- (5) There remain private remittances for individuals other than those mentioned above. To a large extent these represent the profits of partners residing in England, together with a large number of miscellaneous remittances which are very difficult to trace and classify, such as savings by private individuals, remittances to families, and so forth. The information supplied to me by the Exchange Banks indicates that the extent of these remittances during 1916-17 was not less than £2 millions, and was probably somewhat more. In an ordinary year such remittances would have been off-set to some extent by remittances to individuals in India from England and elsewhere, but for the past year or so these have been negligible.

The above very rough estimate still leaves an unexplained balance of between 5 and 7 crores. In some years this balance would have been still further reduced by a net transfer to England of the rupee resources of the Exchange Banks. In 1916-17, the amount of this "over-buying", i.e., the excess of purchases of bills drawn against exports, or of private telegraphic transfers, over the amount of sales of homeward remittances plus receipts from Council bills and from bills sent out for collection from importers in India, was, however, taking the year as a whole, probably negligible, as there is reason to believe that the Banks were already in a large overbought position at the beginning of the financial year; this they reduced considerably during the first half or three quarters of the year, but increased again during the last quarter; and they probably ended the year in a position differing little from that in which they began it. It is likely, however, that during 1917-18 the amount of the Banks' overbuying will be found to play a much larger part in the liquidation of the balance of trade.

A further reduction in the unexplained balance also occurs whenever the actual selling of exchange over a period is less than the value of the merchandise exported during that period, i.e., when an exporting firm has accepted payment in a foreign country and the proceeds have not been remitted back to India. This happens particularly when an exporting firm consigns its goods to its own branch or agents abroad: To give one instance, during the year under report there was certainly at one time a substantial amount of Indian money temporarily locked up in the Far East, representing the sale of cotton yarn exported from India, and which, owing to exchange difficulties, the Indian firms' agents or branches could not at once remit to their principals. It is probable that in this and similar ways there was an appreciable amount due to India outstanding at the end of the year.

IV.—Exchange and Council Bills.

13. The statement inset below shows the monthly sales of Councils during 1916-17. The year 1915-16 had closed with a strong demand for remittance to India through Government, the Secretary of State's rate for immediate special transfers being forced up as high as  $1s. 4\frac{5}{8}d.$  In April it was generally expected that exchange would shortly fall off. This, however, did not prove to be the case, and though exchange was fairly quiet during that month it rose towards the close of April, and again further during the course of May, quite a considerable amount of specials being sold at  $1s. 4\frac{5}{8}d.$  during that month. It is probable that some at least of the funds remitted to India during what is normally the slack season were brought out in anticipation of requirements later in the year, the Exchange Banks anticipating a considerable stringency in the busy season, and a consequently high competitive demand for Councils. Towards the close of May, however, the rate again slackened, closing at the end of June at  $1s. 4\frac{1}{8}d.$  for telegraphic transfers. July was the quietest month of the year, the total sales being 1,20 lakhs, rising in August to 1,54 lakhs; in September there was a temporary set back of a very inconsiderable character to 1,49 lakhs. In October, however, a very strong demand set in, the sales in that month amounting to 4,14 lakhs. These were followed by an unprecedented demand in November to the extent of 10,59 lakhs, and in one week alone, that ending 5th December, 3,72 lakhs were sold. The causes responsible for this demand were at first the requirements for the jute trade, which were hardly satisfied when a very severe demand arose for seeds, wheat, hides, and cotton. The extent to which this enormous demand for funds to finance India's exports was reflected in the demand for internal currency, and the strain which it laid on the resources of Government, will be described later in this report; it is sufficient here to say that the stock of rupees in the Paper Currency Reserve had fallen to under 15 crores by the early part of December, with the greater part of the busy season still to be faced, while the funds available for payment of Council bills had to be augmented by two Ordinances, issued within a month of each other, increasing the invested portion of the Currency Reserve by a total of 24 crores.

It was clear that the pace was too hot to last, and that, if the convertibility of the note issue was to be maintained, a limit must be set to the facilities given by Government for the remittance of funds to India. Accordingly, on December 20th a limit of 80 lakhs was placed on the weekly sales, which was raised the following week to 1,20 lakhs, at which figure it remained throughout the rest of the financial year. At the same time that this limit was imposed, the Secretary of State fixed the rates for Councils at 1s. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for immediate transfers and 1s. 4 $\frac{1}{8}$ d. for deferred transfers and bills; at the beginning of January these rates were increased by  $\frac{1}{2}$ d., after which no further alteration was made during the remainder of the year.

14. The impossibility of selling unlimited Councils created a set of conditions which inevitably tended to force rates of exchange in India up to very high levels. The abnormally large balance of trade in favour of India had resulted in the sellers of exchange greatly out-numbering the buyers, and, there being practically no imports of gold to fill the gap, the former were at the mercy of the latter. On the one hand, exporters were only too ready to pay high rates if they could thereby get their bills purchased; on the other hand, importers were in the position of being able to effect their remittances at rates which, as business men, they could scarcely refuse to take advantage of. Early in January it was clear that rates threatened to rise to levels unprecedented since the sterling value of the rupee was standardised. Exporters, more particularly those who had entered into forward contracts based on lower rates, began to feel considerable apprehension, as well as those importers who were in possession of stocks, sales of which are made on a rupee basis, and whose value consequently depreciated. The Exchange Banks, with the object of preserving the stable equilibrium which for many years had characterised the sterling value of the rupee, and of preventing a too violent departure from the 1s. 4d. standard, endeavoured to arrive at an agreement not to sell telegraphic transfers on London above 1s. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. An agreement to this effect was actually reached at Calcutta, and for some time was operative there, but it was found impracticable to extend its scope to the whole of India, the main difficulty arising from the fact that several banks had large commitments to meet in the shape of drawings from the Far East, to cover which they felt it necessary to outbid other banks by offering to sell at tempting rates. It was not possible, therefore, to maintain the agreement at Calcutta, for as long as the Calcutta import merchants were able to obtain better terms elsewhere they naturally made their remittances through the banks at such places. By January the 16th it became clear that a fixation of rates by mutual agreement among the Exchange Banks in India would not be attained, and exchange broke away, the rate quoted in Calcutta for Telegraphic Transfers on London being 1s. 5d.; on that day exchange transactions were even reported to have been put through at as high a rate as 1s. 6d. The matter was, however, settled by the action taken by the Secretary of State, in conjunction with the Exchange Banks' London Offices, which resulted in the agreement of the 22nd January 1917, under which the Banks bound their Indian branches to observe rates based on 1s. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for telegraphic transfers on London.

15. It is on these fixed rates that exchange operations settled down for the remainder of the year. This, however, is not to say that the actual rates obtained by importers, and paid by exporters, were in all cases those laid down by the Secretary of State; it was not long before exporters, anxious to dispose of their bills at almost any rate, found means for dealing directly with importers anxious to sell their rupees at as high a premium as possible. It is unnecessary to give details here of the various devices employed for putting through such transactions behind the backs of the Exchange Banks. It is sufficient to say that it soon became clear that the fixed rates at which the Exchange Banks were buying and selling might soon become merely nominal, and steps were accordingly taken to appeal to the business public, and to import merchants in particular, to refrain from adding to the difficulties of the situation by insisting on taking the maximum premium on their rupees that could be obtained. Generally speaking, this appeal was acceded to by all the more respectable firms in India, though hole and corner transactions of the kind mentioned probably remained fairly common among those classes of traders to whose public spirit no successful appeal is possible.

The importance of the measures referred to above arose from the necessity for finding sufficient finance for those of India's exports which are of Imperial importance for the prosecution of the war. In view of that necessity, the Exchange Banks undertook to give preference to such exports, and to give the financing of them the first claim on their rupee resources. An important part of those resources consists in the remittances made by import merchants, and hence the necessity for doing all that was possible to ensure that such remittances should be placed at the unfettered disposal of the Exchange Banks, and should not be drawn off as cover for exports which are not of urgent national importance. The undertaking given by the Exchange Banks in the matter of financing these war exports was loyally observed, and has been of the greatest possible assistance, more particularly since the close of the year under report, in enabling large quantities of exports, for which there has been urgent need in the United Kingdom, to receive the necessary finance.

V.—The Government Treasury Balances and Reserves.

16. Mention has been made of the unprecedented scale upon which facilities were given for the remittance of funds to India through Government. Such remittances, however, by no means represent the full extent to which the Government of India's treasury balances were transferred from India to England. The expenditure incurred in India on behalf of His Majesty's Government, and repaid in London, had exactly the same effect on the Indian balances as the drawing of Council bills, and the extent of this recoverable war expenditure, coupled with the large sums which Government placed at the disposal of trade through Council drawings, resulted in a very heavy strain on the treasury balances throughout the year.

The facts regarding the treasury position were set forth fully in paragraphs 26 to 37 of the Honourable the Finance Member's Budget Speech, and I need only refer to the salient features of the position. The budget for 1916-17 had provided for a remittance from India to England by Government of about £22½ millions, of which £18·6 millions was on account of war expenditure in India recoverable in London from the Home Government, while the remaining £3·2 millions was to be drawn by Council bills. Actually, the total sum remitted to England by Government during the year (apart from sundry indirect remittances aggregating £5 millions) amounted to about £71½ millions, of which £33 millions represents Council drawings, and £38½ millions recoveries from the Home Government on account of expenditure in India. This large remittance would have been impossible but for the assistance which the treasury balances in India received in the following ways. In the first place the Secretary of State made a counter-remittance of about £15 millions in the shape of shipments of silver. Secondly, £19 millions were withdrawn from the Paper Currency Reserve in India, a corresponding increase being made in the investments at home, in other words, the Secretary of State appropriated £19 millions, out of his receipts from the sale of Councils, to the purchase of Treasury bills, to be held as part of the Paper Currency Reserve. Thirdly, some assistance was derived from the fact that £4½ millions of the Council bill payments in India were made from the Gold Standard Reserve, a corresponding amount being credited to that Reserve in London.

This increase in the invested portion of the Paper Currency Reserve was justified by the steady growth in the active circulation, which at the beginning of the year was 53·19 crores, remained fairly stationary throughout the slack season, and then rose steadily, as shown by the following figures for the active circulation at the end of each month :—

August	55·18 crores.
September	56·66 "
October	61·12 "
November	63·76 "
December	66·88 "
January	64·26 "
February	66·37 "
March	67·08 "

the latter figure being then the highest on record.

The following table shows the movements in the treasury balances and the reserves, at the commencement and close of the year and at the end of September:—

It will be seen that the securities in the Paper Currency Reserve in England increased by roughly £19 millions, that the Gold Standard Reserve grew from £26½ millions to £31½ millions during the year, and that the £6 millions borrowed from that Reserve was repaid.

VI.—Price of Silver and Coinage of Rupees.

17. During the previous year the price of silver had fluctuated widely, but had never reached 30d., the highest figure quoted being 28½d. at the end of March 1916. During the first two months of 1916-17 however, there was a rapid, and what was then regarded as a sensational, rise, the price being 32½d. on the 26th April rising within a week by 5½d. to 37½d. on the 3rd May. After fluctuating between 37 and 34 the price declined to 32½d. at the end of May. In the month of June the price varied between 30 and 31d.

It was about the time that the rise in price occurred that it became clear to the silver market that, in view of the continual absorption of rupees during the previous busy season, a large programme of silver coinage in India would have to be undertaken. To some extent the obvious necessity for coinage in India was, no doubt, in itself a cause of the rise in price, though contributory factors must also have been the continuously heavy demands for silver coinage by the Entente countries, combined with the situation in Mexico. Nevertheless, the Secretary of State, who had commenced buying before the close of the financial year, succeeded in making very large purchases and by the end of June the Mints were coining on a large scale. The fall in price which occurred in June was followed by a further decline, the lowest point touched by silver being 28½d. on July 10th. The price then rose continuously, and at the end of November just touched 36d. and by the middle of December 37d. By this time the difficulties of purchase had become manifest, and the anxieties of the situation were aggravated by the continuous and unprecedented absorption of rupees, the details of which are given elsewhere in this report. Very heavy purchases had been effected by the Secretary of State in various parts of the world, notably in the Far East, but at the end of 1916 it became apparent that Indian purchases of silver in China were causing considerable stringency there, and accordingly China herself became a buyer, so much so that silver was even exported from India to China. At the end of December, in order to bridge the gap between the arrivals of certain shipments, the Government of India purchased in Bombay and Calcutta two crores worth of silver. With the New Year the price steadily pursued its upward course, the average Price in February being well over 37*d.*, receding in March to a little over 36*d.*, the price at the end of the year being 36½*d.* The still more sensational rise in the price of silver, which has occurred since the close of the financial year and which seems likely to have most far-reaching results, need not be referred to here.

In spite of the great difficulties of purchase the Secretary of State was able to obtain £17·7 millions worth of silver during the year, the amount of rupees turned out by the Indian Mints being no less than 30 crores. Yet the absorption of rupees was so great that, in spite of this large coinage, the Government's rupee stocks during the year were, on the balance, depleted to the extent of about 6 crores. The Gold Standard Reserve benefited by £1 millions from the profits on coinage.

VII.—The Presidency Banks and Money Conditions in India.

18. During the year under report the movements of the money markets in India were very irregular, and more than usually subject to local and temporary influences. Thus, the Bank of Bengal's rate has been changed eight times, the Bank of Bombay's rate ten times, and that of the Bank of Madras four times. At the end of the previous financial year the Bank rate stood at 8 per cent. in all the three Presidency towns. In April there was, as usual at that time of the year, a slackening of the demand for trade accommodation, and the rates in Bombay and Calcutta were reduced to 7 per cent. on the 13th and 14th April respectively. By the middle of May the slack season had definitely set in, and on the 25th of that month the Bank of Bombay reduced its rate to 6 per cent., being followed by the Bank of Bengal on the 1st June. In Madras, where money conditions throughout the year have in many respects been different from those in the rest of India, the Bank rate remained at 8 per cent. till the 5th June. The Bank of Bombay again brought down its rate to 5 per cent. on the 15th June, the Bank of Bengal following on the 22nd, while the Bank of Madras rate was also lowered to 6 per cent. on the 19th June. In the middle of July, conditions in Bombay were such that the Bank of Bombay reduced its rate to 4 per cent., which, it may be noted, is the lowest figure to which any Indian Bank rate has been brought since the outbreak of the war. The conditions in Bombay were, indeed, unusually easy, money being practically unlendable at 2 per cent.; it is probably the case that the Bombay money market saw in the improved military situation, as also in the rising prices of cotton, the beginnings of a period of considerable prosperity, and it was reported also that considerable sums of money came down to Bombay from the neighbouring Native States of Central India and Rajputana. At about this time, moreover, a considerable portion of the money, withdrawn in the days of panic which followed on the outbreak of the war, probably found its way back for employment in commercial and industrial enterprises. The ease in the Bombay market, the financing of a number of new ventures, the marked advancement (to some extent doubtless speculative) of the prices of many shares, more particularly those of the local industry, all stand out among the prominent features of the money market conditions of the first half of the financial year.

From 4 per cent. the Bank rate in Bombay was raised to 5 per cent. on the 17th August and again to 6 per cent. on the 5th October, but was not raised to 7 per cent. until the 23rd November. In the last week of November a somewhat acute position arose in the cotton market, the price of Broach cotton having risen to Rs. 450 per candy, and fears were entertained as to the carrying through of the April settlement in view of the possibility of higher prices being reached. Attempts to impose a maximum price were made and failed, but the position was relieved by a fall in prices, due partly to unseasonable rain in the cotton districts.

The rate of the Bank of Bengal was raised to 6 per cent. on the 14th September. Within a month a further advance to 7 per cent. was necessitated, and on the 9th November, when the Bank's reserve had fallen to 26·56 per cent., a further advance to 8 per cent. was effected. On the 30th November the Bombay rate also was raised to 8. The Bank of Madras raised its rate to 7 per cent. on the 31st October and to 8 per cent. on the 5th December, at which figure it remained during the remainder of the year.

In the early autumn the demand in Calcutta on the existing supplies of money was much in excess of anticipation. To a large extent this was due to higher prices prevailing for jute, and the lateness of the crop intensified the demand by concentrating it over a shorter period than usual. Immediately after this demand, there arose in the Punjab and the United Provinces a considerable demand for money for the financing of wheat exports which were stimulated, firstly by the high prices of wheat at home, and, secondly, by an active policy of purchase by the Home Government in order to remedy the results of a shortage in the American crop. A contributory cause, though it did not perhaps operate to any very considerable extent, was the requirement of funds for the purchase in India of the Burma rice crop, exports of which had been retarded by the anticipation on the part of producers of a considerable enhancement of prices. The heavy demands for the financing of the jute crop were reflected in the rapid depletion, in the months of August, September and October, of the cash balances of the Bank of Bengal. These, as well as the cash balances of the other two Presidency Banks, are given in the table below :—

On February the 22nd the Banks of Bengal and Bombay both lowered their rates to 7 per cent., followed three weeks later, on the eve of the opening of the War Loan operations, by a further reduction to 6 per cent., at which level the two rates remained during the rest of the financial year. During the first three months of 1917 the pressure for money was, as usual, greatest on the Bombay side, especially during the season when the cotton mills were making their annual purchases. The financing of the cotton crop gave rise, indeed, to a considerable strain, which became more pronounced as the date for the Broach settlement (April 25th) approached, and which was accentuated by a good deal of speculation. This matter, however, as well as the effect on the money market of the loan operations, which commenced two weeks before the close of the financial year, hardly falls within the scope of the present report.

The high balances kept by Government with the Presidency Banks during June, July and August were due to the fact that the proceeds of the Conversion Loan of 1916 (raised in June) received at the Presidency Banks were not drawn off at once, but, following the usual practice, were kept with the Banks as long as possible, until actually required for Government disbursements. Similarly, the high balance at the Banks at the end of March was due to the commencement of the operations of the Indian War Loan.

The great expansion in business, which has taken place in India since trade settled down to war conditions after the first shock of the crisis, is strikingly exemplified by the following statement, which gives the clearing house figures for the last seven calendar years.

movement of funds.

The following statement shows the movement of money through currency transfers during each month of the year. It will be seen that between July and November other parts of the country relied to a considerable extent on the supply of money in the Bombay market, while during the remainder of the year the movement was chiefly from Calcutta.

20. It has been seen that the exceptional conditions of the year gave rise to an exceptional demand for currency. I give below a table showing the nature of the additions made to the circulating medium during the year, as compared with the previous four years:—

21. Of the many difficulties that the Government of India had to face during the year not the least was the drain on their rupee stocks. The total number of rupees absorbed reached the altogether unprecedented figure of 33,49 lakhs as shown in the following statement, which exhibits the absorption or return of each form of currency during the successive busy and slack seasons in each circle :—

NOTE.—The above figures exclude 125 lakhs of rupees exported to Persia and Egypt, but include 212 lakhs remitted from the Bombay and Karachi Circles to Basra in currency notes.

* The difference between this figure and 48,79 in paragraph 20 is due to the fact that the above figure represents only currency transactions while the statement in paragraph 20 takes into account the treasury transactions also.

22. It was not merely the extraordinary demand for rupees for the financing of the crops that gave rise to embarrassment. In a normal year heavy issues during the busy seasons in the various parts of the country would have been followed by a correspondingly heavy return from circulation during the slack seasons. What has made the year 1916-17 so different from its predecessors was the absence of any appreciable return. Some tendency in this direction had, indeed, been noticed in the previous year, when, as remarked in last year's report, it was apparent that the rupees issued in payment for crops were returning to the larger centres much more slowly than in previous years of heavy issues. The following figures exhibit very clearly the smallness of the return from circulation during the slack seasons of 1916-17 as compared with previous years :—

(—indicates return from circulation.)

In the first month of the year the absorption of rupees was nearly 4½ crores, and in the first fortnight of May about 2 crores, the demand coming from the Cawnpore and Madras circles which took respectively 2½ and 2½ crores. At the end of May a return from circulation began, though on a considerably smaller scale than might have been expected in view of the previous heavy issues. The return continued till the end of July, when an absorption began and continued on an unprecedented scale during all the remaining months of the year. In Calcutta the demand for rupees for the purchase of the jute crop started in the last week of July and continued till the end of October, during which period no less than 11½ crores were issued. In the Cawnpore and Lahore circles absorption recommenced in October, chiefly for the financing of seeds, while in Bombay a very large absorption on account of cotton started in November. Altogether, during the cotton season over 12 crores of rupees were issued in the Bombay and Karachi circles, and during the wheat season about 3½ crores in Cawnpore and nearly 9 crores in Lahore. In spite of heavy coinage, the stock of whole rupees in the currency reserve ran down from 23 crores on April 1st to about 14 crores in the third week of December, and it was necessary to move rupees as rapidly as possible about the country to meet the insistent demand from the different centres. At the end of the year the balance of whole rupees in the reserve was 17 crores, and I may add that in the first week of May 1917, at the close of the busy season, the stock of rupees had fallen to under 13 crores, which is the lowest figure touched for over ten years. It is important to note, however, that at no place in India were there signs of anything approaching a panic demand for encashment, and the whole of this enormous absorption of currency was due entirely to genuine trade demands.

23. The exceptionally heavy absorption of rupees during the year is sometimes attributed solely to the hoarding proclivities of the inhabitants of the country. That hoarding exists cannot be denied, but it may well be doubted whether the above simple explanation is complete. It will have been seen from the earlier paragraphs of this report that throughout the year there was a marked buoyancy of trade and a general feeling of confidence and optimism, and to attribute a heavy absorption of metallic currency merely to increased hoarding, due perhaps to some feeling of unsettlement arising out of the war, does not seem altogether consistent with those facts or with the striking improvement shown in the popularity of currency notes. It is probable that to a large extent what is sometimes rather loosely called hoarding is frequently involuntary, being nothing more nor less than sheer inability on the part of the holders of rupees to spend them. In ordinary times, cultivators, after receiving payment for their crops, devote at any rate some portion of their spare cash to the purchase of imported goods, chiefly piece-goods. During this third year of the war, however, such goods were to be found in the up-country bazaars in much smaller quantities, and then only at such high prices as would frequently induce the ordinary consumer to do without his purchases until the price should come down. An ordinary Blackburn dhoti, for example, which before the war could be obtained for about Rs. 2, could only be purchased at a price of from Rs. 3-12 to Rs. 4. Again, much of the savings of agriculturists are normally invested in ornaments, but it is unlikely that many people would pay something like a rupee a tola for silver which for years they have been accustomed to purchase at a much lower price, and which, if purchased now, might possibly before long depreciate heavily in value; as for gold, this was practically unobtainable. In many cases the consumer could no doubt well afford to buy such goods, the cultivating classes, taken as a whole, having probably had more spare cash than at any time for many years; but having been accustomed to purchase goods at a certain level of prices, their natural conservatism, and their suspicion of the middlemen, have probably exercised a considerable influence in causing an abstention from purchase. Whether or not this be a correct conjecture of the ryot's mentality, the fact remains that the agricultural classes have had much less to spend their money on, and it is probably correct to attribute mainly to the restriction of imports and to their high prices the fact that so few of the rupees issued during the year returned from circulation.

24. With the object of relieving the strain on silver and of reducing (and, if possible, of extinguishing) the premium on gold, thereby giving the sovereign a chance of circulating once more, and incidentally also of giving the people something to spend their money on, sales were effected from the 18th January till the 26th April of a portion of the raw gold held at Bombay on behalf of the Bank of England, the gold bullion taken over by the Government of India being replaced in London by sovereigns from the Paper Currency Reserve. The total weight of gold sold was nearly 2·6 millions of tolas, the value at 77s. 9d. per standard ounce being approximately 6.18 crores. The average price realised at the sales was Rs. 24-1-4 per tola. This gold, being unrefined, had to be refined locally by the purchasers before it could be sold retail, and the difficulties of refining somewhat impeded its absorption. Special steps were taken, however, to ensure that the gold sold by Government should reach the distributing centres up-country. Before the sale was started the price of dragon sovereigns in Bombay had touched Rs. 16, by the end of January the price dropped to Rs. 15-14-0, and by the middle of February to Rs. 15-9-0, falling further to Rs. 15-7-0 before the sale of gold had to be stopped owing to the impracticability of continuing to re-imburse the Bank of England from currency sovereigns in London. The fall in the price of sovereigns was not proportionate to the fall in the price of bar gold, as the sovereign commands to some extent a price of its own, owing to the fact that in some parts of the country it is bought for its own sake and not as bullion. At the time in question there was also an independent demand for sovereigns in Bombay from pearl dealers and others for the Gulf trade; further, the fall of Baghdad in March gave rise to a strong demand for sovereigns on the part of Arabs and other dwellers in the upper part of Mesopotamia, and sales of sovereigns were reported to have been effected in that month in the Bombay bazaar at as much as Rs. 16-1-0.

It is impossible to say exactly what effect these sales had upon the silver position. Enquiries showed that most of the gold sold by Government found its way up-country, and, in so far as it was retailed in the up-country bazaars, must have served the purpose, mentioned above, of giving people something to spend their money on, thereby doubtless resulting in some circulation of rupees which otherwise would have remained stagnant. At the worst, the effect on the currency position in India was similar to that which would have been produced if the imports and sales of say, piece-goods, had been greater by 6 crores. The direct effect upon the sovereign would probably have been greater if it had been practicable to continue the sales simultaneously with the issue of sovereigns referred to below.

With the object of further relieving the strain on rupees it was decided, towards the end of the financial year, to make some use of a portion of the sovereigns in the currency reserve by issuing them to certain produce purchasing firms, who undertook to use their best endeavours to ensure that the sovereigns should actually reach the cultivators in payment for produce, and thus displace rupees. The issue was not actually started till the beginning of April, when a small quantity of sovereigns was released in the Bombay Presidency in payment for cotton. Issues on a considerably larger scale were subsequently made in the wheat districts during the purchasing season, an account of which belongs however to the following year's report.

IX.—The note circulation.

25. Statements X to XIX contain the usual statistics regarding the currency note circulation. The table below compares the gross, net and active circulation on the 31st March, and also the average for the year in each case, with the corresponding figures for certain previous years :—

* These figures represent the net circulation.

The figures for the net circulation exclude the value of the notes held in the reserve treasuries, and those for the active circulation further exclude the value of notes in all other Government treasuries and also of those held in the headquarters offices of the Presidency Banks. As has been explained in previous reports, the figures for the average active circulation probably form the best criterion of the extent to which currency notes actually circulate among the public.

The rapid increase in the active circulation which was a feature of the closing months of the year 1915-16 was maintained throughout the year 1916-17. The circulation reached a record figure of over 67 crores at the close of the year, being nearly 14 crores higher than the maximum attained up to the end of the preceding year. The average circulation was also a record, being 11½ crores higher than the maximum figure of 48 crores reached in the year 1915-16. The brisk trade demand for currency, and the general feeling of optimism and confidence among the public, coupled with the additional facilities provided for encashment, referred to in last year's report, all contributed to this further substantial advance in the popularity of the note issue.

26. A further contributory cause of the increased circulation was doubtless the fact that since the war gold has no longer been freely available for the finance of certain crops or for use as currency. As an instance of the manner in which the note circulation has been affected owing to the absence of gold I quote the following extracts from the report of the Commissioner of Paper Currency, Madras :

Prior to the war, the Native States of Travancore and Cochin used to obtain large supplies of sovereigns through the Bank of Madras and use them extensively as a medium of circulation. The orders prohibiting the issue of sovereigns to the public from the Currency offices and the treasuries of British India, passed on the outbreak of the war, put a stop to the flow of sovereigns into these Native States. The question was therefore considered during the year under report as to whether the void thus created could not be filled by pushing the circulation of Government of India currency notes in these States, and establishing for the purpose currency exchange agencies at the branches of the Bank of Madras at Cochin and Alleppey. As, however, Cochin has only a very tiny Government of India sub-treasury, and as Alleppey has no Government of India treasury at all, the conclusion was arrived at that it was not worthwhile locking up Government money at these places to enable the Bank to carry on currency exchange business on behalf of Government. The idea of establishing regular currency exchange agencies at Cochin and Alleppey was accordingly abandoned, but the Bank of Madras have undertaken to do the currency exchange work at these places with their own cash balances, on the condition that Government will undertake to bear the cost of moving the funds required by the Bank for exchange purposes. The amount of whole rupees imported by the Bank's branches at Cochin and Alleppey under this arrangement amounted to 10 lakhs and 20 lakhs respectively during the year under report.

It may not be out of place to mention here the results of the operations of the currency exchange agency started at Trivandrum (the capital town of the Travancore State) on the opening of a branch of the Bank of Madras there in February 1916. The value of coin issued for notes and of notes issued for coin from February 1916 to March 1917 at this agency amounted to 30 lakhs and 32 lakhs respectively, the total transactions thus resulting in a net return of notes to the value of 7 lakhs.

About the close of the year 1916-17, the Financial Secretary to the Government of Travancore stated that currency notes were beginning to pass into circulation in the Travancore State and he also expressed the opinion that they would gradually increase in popularity as a medium of currency.

The following is an extract from a report, dated the 22nd May 1917, received from the Assistant Resident in Travancore and Cochin :—

"Before the opening of the Bank and the Currency chest in Trivandrum, notes had only a restricted circulation and passed at a discount in the Bazaar. They are now accepted by the more important merchants at par and an increasing use is made of them. Small notes do not circulate to a large extent : on issue from the Bank they find their way through the general public to the Sirkar treasuries and are in course of time returned to the Bank. Large notes are however used by merchants for remittance purposes, especially to such places as Tinnevely, Tuticorin and other places fairly close by. Issues of these notes exceed receipts. For Cochin, Bombay, Madras, and other distant places merchants find Bank telegraphic transfers more convenient. The free exchange of notes and advantageous rates for Bank telegraphic transfers have retained silver in the treasury, but this has avoided largely the expense of importing coins for seasonal requirements."

Statement XIX gives the usual information regarding the civil treasuries in the provinces at which notes are cashed. Except at certain places in the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province and Burma practically all treasuries now regularly cash notes to the full extent of the demand. The following figures show that in the year 1916-17 there has been a further marked increase in the transaction in question at treasuries, both under receipts and issues.

With the exception of the Rs. 50 note, which has a limited popularity in Bombay, Karachi and Lahore, and is in small demand elsewhere, there was a marked increase in the circulation of universal notes, (i.e. notes of denominations up to and including Rs. 100) consequent on the general increase in circulation. Cawnpore alone does not contribute to the increase, the reason being apparently that whereas formerly Cawnpore notes were used either direct or in remittances to finance crops in neighbouring districts, during the last few years notes have been remitted to Cawnpore from other circles for this purpose, and this tendency is becoming more marked. The big increase in circulation in Bombay and Karachi was partly, though by no means mainly, due to the remittance of notes of these circles to Mesopotamia. The Rs. 5 note has hitherto had a comparatively small circulation in the Calcutta circle but the year 1916 shows a satisfactory increase which, I may add, has been fully maintained in 1917, these notes being now more readily accepted in Bengal in payment of wages and for crops. The minus figure shown against Madras under the Rs. 50 denomination is due to the fact that all notes withdrawn from circulation at Agencies are treated as home notes, an adjustment in respect of foreign notes not being made until the notes are eventually received at Madras. Bombay makes large remittances of Rs. 50 notes to certain Madras Districts and the withdrawal of these at the Agencies is taken, in the first instance, in reduction of the balance of Madras notes.

28. The following statement compares the mean circulation for the year with the total number of cancellations for the notes of the various denominations. The figures are in thousands of pieces in each case :—

	Rs. 5.	Rs. 10.	Rs. 50.	Rs. 100.	Rs. 500.	Rs. 1,000.	Rs. 10,000.

Average of five years ending with 1912-13.	.65	.81	.44	.36	.28	.16	.20

The ratio of circulation to cancellation (taken to two places of decimals) indicates roughly the life of each denomination of notes. There is little change in the length of the life of the universal notes but the increased length of life of the Rs. 5 note is due to the re-issue freely of this denomination, owing to the scarcity of paper and to the consequent difficulty of securing an adequate supply of forms.

X.—Miscellaneous matters connected with currency notes and the coinage.

29. The number of forged notes presented for encashment, or received in the Currency Offices for examination as to their genuineness, or for safe custody, aggregated 96 in the year under review against 97 and 170 in the two previous years. More than two-thirds of this number appeared in the Calcutta and Rangoon Circles. Of the 96 notes, 11 were of the Rs. 100, 7 of the Rs. 5 and the rest of the Rs. 10 denomination. Over half the notes were new forgeries belonging to a large number of different series, but the bulk were very crude specimens, either hand-drawn or lithographed on common paper, and often of an oily appearance. Imitation water-marks were produced in a few instances by impressing with wooden blocks. Among the more successful attempts, mention may be made of the forgeries of the  $\frac{VB}{5}$  and  $\frac{UB}{91}$  series. Several of these appeared at Calcutta and Bombay and were fairly good imitations, apparently done by the lithographic process. The notes of the IC-28 and IC-66 series purporting to be of the Rangoon Circle were executed by what is known as the "Anastatic" method. By this method, which was employed in some of the older well known forgeries, the impressions on a genuine note are transferred by various chemical processes to a block of specially prepared zinc or stone. Almost all the new forgeries of the Rs. 100 denomination appeared at Madras and were, with few exceptions, inferior hand-drawn specimens.

Altogether, nine prosecutions were undertaken during the year in connection with forged notes—five in Burma and four in Madras. Four of these resulted in convictions. In one of the Burma cases an interesting question arose as to what should be taken in law to constitute a forgery. The accused persons, it was alleged, had attempted to reproduce a currency note on sensitised photographic paper, but the reproduction on exposure to light had turned a ruddy brown colour and retained very little of the original impression. It was held that the attempt could not be described as a forgery as by that time it bore no resemblance to a genuine note and the accused were accordingly discharged.

notes, 30. The figures below show the number of wholly destroyed, half and mutilated notes, claims in respect of which were admitted during the year 1916-17 and the two preceding years:—

		1914-15.	1915-16.	1916-17.
Whole notes destroyed	.	37	42	579
Half notes	{ Lost by post	864	710	615
	{ Lost otherwise	613	621	806
Mutilated notes	.	873	883	999

The apparent extraordinary increase against "whole notes destroyed" was due to an alteration during the year in the rule governing the period after which payment on such notes may be made. The period was reduced from 20 years to 5 years and all cases which had been on the registers for a period exceeding 5 years were disposed of under the revised rule.

notes, The value of notes written off to Government during the year under section 19 of Act II of 1910 amounted to Rs. 79,430 as compared with Rs. 51,300, Rs. 67,670 and Rs. 66,740 in the three years 1913-14 to 1915-16.

page. 31. The total value of withdrawn coins amounted to 141½ lakhs against Rs. 162½ lakhs in 1915-16. The details are as shown in the statement below:—

32. Information regarding the counterfeit silver coins which came to light during the year will be found in the review of the reports of the working of the Mints in Bombay and Calcutta.

33. Statement XX contains details of the absorption of small coin in each province during each of the last three years. These are summarised in the table below together with the corresponding figures for the years from 1910-11 onwards (a minus sign indicating a return from circulation) :—

Year.	In thousands of Rupees.
	Four-anna pieces.	Two-anna pieces.	One-anna pieces.	Single piece.	TOTAL.
1910-11 . . . .	14,18	14,10	20,36	9,37	58,01

1916-17 . . . .	32,99	23,17	32,50	8,59	97,25

The total for the year 1916-17 excludes about Rs. 2 lakhs of small coin exported to Basra. The absorption for the year amounted to Rs. 97 lakhs against 36 in the previous year. The revival of trade activity which, as has been seen, was reflected in a renewed demand for currency of higher values had a similar effect on the demand for small coin.

The growing popularity of the nickel one-anna piece, to which reference was made in the last report, was further manifested by the absorption in 1916-17, which amounted to the record figure of 32.5 lakhs and represented 33.4 per cent. of the total absorption of small coin.

Receipts and expenditure of the Currency Department.

34. Statement XXI gives the usual details of the receipts and expenditure of the Currency Department for the year 1916-17. The receipts, it will be seen, have more than doubled, mainly on account of the increase in investments from the Paper Currency Reserve. As explained, however, in paragraph 12 of the Hon'ble Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1917-18 the extra receipts from the additional sterling investments have been set apart to make good the loss on the sale of consols in the Paper Currency Reserve, which it has been decided to replace by more readily realisable securities. The expenditure has increased by Rs. 2 lakhs, due to the higher consumption of note forms (vide Statement XXIII).

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

E. M. COOK,

Offg. Controller of Currency.

* The anomaly of a minus sign in the case of the Rs. 50 notes in Madras is due to the procedure under which foreign circle notes held in currency chests are treated as home notes for the purpose of the currency accounts. The foreign notes of the Rs. 50 denomination held in the Madras currency chests on the 31st March and thus temporarily withdrawn from circulation exceeded the total of the 50 Rupee notes of the Madras circle in circulation. The figures for all the circles together of course work up to a correct total.

No. 5523.—In supersession of Notification No. 2395-18-II, dated 5th August 1907 as further amended by Notification No. 380-1271, dated 24th January 1913, the following rules framed on the basis of those prescribed in the Resolution of the Government of India in the Finance Department, No. 3715-Exc., dated 30th June 1905 for the custody, supply and sale of stamps and stamped papers in the District of Abu are published for general information.

CENTRAL DEPÔT.

1. Stamps for the aforesaid areas shall be supplied from the Central Depôt at Bombay on he indent of the officer in charge of the local depôt at Abu.

2. The Superintendent of Stamps at Bombay, on receiving an indent from the local depôt, shall have it examined to ascertain that it is such as to ensure the local depôt having a proper supply and may comply with the indent in full or in part, as he thinks fit. If he thinks that the indent should be increased, he should request the officer who submitted the indent to submit a supplementary indent.

LOCAL DEPÔT.

3. There shall be a local depôt at Abu for the custody and sale of stamps.

4. The local depôt shall, unless the Honourable the Agent to the Governor-General in Rajputana otherwise directs, maintain a supply of stamps not less than the probable consumption of 10 months.

5. As soon as the number of stamps in the local depôt falls below the number issued from the depôt in the preceding 12 months, the officer in charge of the depôt shall prepare an indent for a supply equal to the probable consumption of six months. The indent shall show in separate columns for each denomination of stamp, of which a supply is required, the total of the balance in the local depôt, the quantity sold in the preceding 12 months, and the quantity indented for, which should be approximately one-half of the quantity sold in the preceding six months. This indent will be forwarded direct to the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay.

6. If the supply of stamps in the local depôt should run short before the receipt of the supply from the Central Depôt the officer in charge of the local depôt should indent for a supply from a neighbouring depôt, sending a copy of the indent to the Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps of the province or such other officer as the Local Government may direct.

7. As soon as possible after the arrival of a supply of stamps from a central depôt or from another local depôt, the officer in charge of the local depôt shall personally examine the outward appearance of the boxes or packets and satisfy himself that they bear no marks of having been tampered with. He shall then have the boxes or packets opened in his presence and the contents of each box or packet counted either by himself or in his presence, immediately on its being opened. In no case must a second box or packet be opened until the contents of the first have been completely examined and verified and placed in the proper receptacles as required by rule. The number and value of stamps received shall be compared by the officer in charge with the invoice submitted or with the passed indent and a receipt shall be sent not later than seven days after the arrival of the stamps to the officer who sent the stamps.

8. The officer in charge shall personally count with his own hands all stamps not received in sealed packets of the value of Rs. 25 and upwards. Stamps below the value of Rs. 25 which are not received in sealed packets with unbroken seals may be counted either by the officer in charge or in his presence. In the case of stamps received in sealed packets marked as containing a certain number of stamps, one packet in 10 of each denomination shall be opened and counted at the time of receipt by the officer in charge or in his immediate presence. If all those counted be found correct, the remainder may be left, with seals unbroken, to be counted when given out from custody, under double lock. The officer in charge is responsible for observing any such instructions and for satisfying himself as to the number of stamps received before signing the receipt. The inside wrappers of packets of stamps which bear the initials of the officers through whose hands the packets passed before issue from England should invariably be preserved till the whole contents of the packets have been examined and found correct.

9. If any of the stamps received are found to be unfit for issue, they should be at once returned to the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay. Stamps which are through any accident rendered unfit for issue at any time after receipt should be similarly returned to the Superintendent of Stamps, Bombay, as soon as their unfitness is discovered. The necessary entries on account on stamps so returned should be made in the monthly statement (Rule 17) and in the plus and the minus memoranda (Rule 18).

10. Immediately after the stamps received have been counted, they shall be placed in proper receptacles in the store under double lock in the presence of the officer in charge arranged in parcels and packets containing known quantities, the amount and value of each denomination being entered at the same time in a register maintained to show the receipts and issues to and from the store under double lock. These entries shall be checked by the officer in charge at the time the stamps are deposited, and the correctness of the arithmetical calculations of additions to balance, as well as for the values compared with quantities,* shall be verified and initialled by him at the time. The register shall then be placed with the stamps in the double lock receptacles and shall not be removed therefrom, nor shall any entries be allowed to be made therein except in the presence of the officer in charge.

*N. B.—In all cases where stamp registers have to be checked, the actual check of quantities against values is a very important one; the correctness of the calculations of value must be tested in detail either by actual multiplication or by use of correctly prepared tables, and this check should never be omitted. This remark applies also to such of the following rules as prescribe a check of this kind. It is not necessary that the complete checking should be done by the officer himself. It will be sufficient if the officer personally checks 10 per cent. of the entries in each class of stamps, leaving the remaining entries in each class to be checked by a subordinate under his supervision.

11. The registers of receipts and issues of stamps from the store under double lock shall be in the form prescribed by the Punjab Government. They shall be kept in bound books as follows :—

- (1) Non-Judicial stamps. (2) Foreign Bill stamps.
- (3) Hundi stamps. (4) Share transfer stamps.
- (5) General book.

The entries in these books should be made either by the officer in charge of the local depot himself or by such other official as the officer in charge may direct at the time of putting in or taking out stamps, but in the latter event the entries must be personally checked off by the officer in charge as the stamps are put in or taken out. Every entry of receipt should correspond with the invoice and should show from whence the stamps were received and every entry of issue should be vouched for by a passed ex-officio vendor's indent. A balance should be struck after each entry at the time of receipt or issue and attested by the signature or initials of the officer in charge who shall invariably be present during the whole time that the store under double locks or any part of it remains open.

12. The Tahsildar, Abu, or such other officer as the Honourable the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, may direct shall be the ex-officio vendor of stamps in the local depot. Sales to the public or to licensed vendors shall not be made direct from the stores under double lock, such sales being made by the ex-officio vendor from the supply entrusted to him for this purpose, to be kept by him under single lock, as prescribed in the following rules :—

13. The stock to be made over to the ex-officio vendor to be kept by him under single lock should ordinarily be sufficient for the probable demand of one month. The ex-officio vendor will maintain a register of receipts and issue from single lock in the same form as the double lock register, and on a fixed date near the beginning of each month he will prepare an indent for the quantity for the month in a form showing the balances in his hands, an average month's consumption and the quantity required. When this indent is presented to the officer in charge, he will examine the single lock register, check the correctness of the arithmetical calculations made therein and compare the balance shown with the actual balance in the ex-officio vendor's hands. If he approves the Indent, he shall then give out the quantity required from the store under double lock, check the correctness of the entries made in the double lock register, see that they correspond with those made in the single lock register, initial both registers and return the double lock register into the double lock store. When it is necessary to issue stamps from the store under double lock more than once in one day, the above checks need only be applied at each time of issue to the particular descriptions of stamps issued. But at the end of each day the officer in charge should verify the whole balance of stamps in ex-officio vendor's hands and check his registers. The same procedure shall be followed if any stamps should be required at any intermediate date.

14. From the stock so made over to his charge and kept by him under single lock, the ex-officio vendor shall sell stamps to the public and to licensed vendors for cash. He shall maintain the single lock register in the form mentioned in the preceding paragraph in English, or in Urdu or Hindi if he is not sufficiently acquainted with English, entering therein both in quantities and values the receipts from double lock, the daily sales and balance in his hands of each denomination at the end of each day. He shall pay monthly to the officer in charge of the local depot the cash received by him for stamps sold. The ex-officio vendor's register shall be balanced daily and the balance shall be attested by the initials of the officer in charge. Before signing this register the officer in charge shall see that all issues from the store under double locks have been brought to credit, and that the values of stamps written off as sold have been credited in the cash accounts. At the close of the last working day of each month, an abstract showing briefly the transactions of the month and containing (1) opening balance, (2) receipts during month, (3) sales during month and (4) closing balance, should be entered in the register after the last entry. The officer in charge shall verify the entries and certify that he has personally examined and counted the stamps of all descriptions in store, and that the transactions during the month have been correctly recorded.

15. On the last open day of September and March each year, the officer in charge of the local depot will count, or have counted in his presence, the stamps in his depot, both those under double lock and those under single lock and will record certificate in the following form :—

I do hereby certify that I have personally examined and counted, or had counted in my presence, the stamps of all descriptions in store in his local depot on the <sup>September</sup> ~~March~~ 19 , and found by actual calculation of numbers and values, not less than 10 per cent. of the entries having been checked by me personally, that the value of each description is as stated in the margin, and the amounts agree with the balances shown in the Register for the period ending <sup>September</sup> ~~March~~. (If there is any difference, add "with the exception of the following differences" the explanation of which is as follows).

16. The officer in charge of the local depot shall forward to the local Accountant-General or Comptroller such returns of the receipts and sales of stamps as the Comptroller General may direct, in the form of plus and minus memoranda or otherwise.

THE HON'BLE THE AGENT TO THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN CENTRAL INDIA.*NOTIFICATIONS.

Central India Agency, Indore, the 2nd October 1917.

No. 1728-C.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 5 and 41 (7) of the Mhow, Nimach and Nowgong Excise Law, 1898, and of all other powers enabling him in this behalf, and in supersession of the notifications of the Central India Agency, Nos. 1707-C and 1708-C, dated the 18th November 1913, as subsequently amended, the Agent to the Governor General in Central India is pleased to make the following rules for the conduct of business at the Nowgong distillery :—

GENERAL.

1. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

"Distillery Officer" means the Senior Excise Inspector or Assistant Inspector for the time being on duty at the distillery.

"Excise Commissioner" means the Excise Commissioner for Central India, and includes such other officer or officers as may, from time to time, be authorized by the Agent to the Governor General in Central India to exercise all or any of the powers of the Excise Commissioner.

"Licensee" means the person or persons for the time being licensed to work the distillery.

"Receiver" means any vessel into which the worm of a still discharges.

"To gauge" means to determine the quantity of liquid that is or can be contained in or taken from a receptacle.

"To prove" means to determine the alcoholic strength of a liquid.

"Vat" means any fixed vessel intended or used for the storage of spirit.

"Washback" means a vessel in which the fermentation of wash is effected.

2. The distillation, storage, blending and removal of spirit and all other operations at the distillery shall be conducted under the supervision and general control of the distillery officer.

3. No washbacks, receivers or vats shall be used in the distillery except such as shall have been approved by the Excise Commissioner. All such washbacks, receivers and vats shall be set up to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner, and so as to admit of their contents being accurately gauged or measured, and shall be fitted with proper dipping rods so adjusted to fixed dipping places that the contents thereof may, at any time, be ascertainable. They shall not be taken into use until they have been gauged in such manner as may be directed, and the gauging has been checked by such officer as may be appointed by the Excise Commissioner. They shall be fixed at a proper height and fitted with cocks or discharge pipes so that they can be emptied without being moved, and shall be slightly sloped that they may drain dry through the cocks or pipes without difficulty. They shall be connected with the still and with each other by such pipes and pumps fitted in such manner as may be required by the Excise Commissioner. Excepting by means of such pipes and pumps, and to such receivers or vats no spirit shall be removed from the still otherwise than in the presence and with the permission of the distillery officer. Nor shall any spirit be removed, otherwise than in the presence and with the permission of such officer, from any receiver or vat or from any pipe or pump in the distillery.

4. The licensee shall provide and maintain suitable and secure fastenings of a pattern or patterns approved by the Excise Commissioner for the still, receivers and vats and for all pipes, pumps or cocks capable of being so manipulated as to admit of the extraction of spirit from the still, receivers or vats or from the pipes and pumps connected therewith. To all such fastenings, as well as to the doors of all rooms in which spirit is stored, locks provided by Government will be affixed, and the keys thereof kept in the custody of the distillery officer. The licensee may also affix his own locks to all such fastenings and doors, provided that he shall always at once remove such locks on the requisition of the distillery officer or of any officer to whom the distillery officer is subordinate.

NOTE.—As an exception to the foregoing, the Excise Commissioner may permit any fastening or class of fastening to be secured with seals of a description approved by him instead of with locks.

5. The licensee shall provide the distillery officer and his subordinates with quarters in the distillery compound, to be approved by the Excise Commissioner.

6. The licensee shall take all reasonable precautions to secure the purity of the spirit. The materials to be used shall be of good quality, and no ingredients noxious to health shall be used in distillation. The spirit shall be liable to analysis under the general or special orders of the Excise Commissioner, and the distiller shall be bound to take steps to remedy defect which the Excise Commissioner may consider material. If spirit is found to be of inferior quality and unsuitable for the purpose for which it was made, it may be rejected and destroyed or otherwise dealt with under the orders of the Excise Commissioner. The distillery officer is empowered to stop, pending the orders of the Excise Commissioner, the issue of spirit which he considers bad, and is required to send samples of such spirit for analysis without delay to the Cantonment Magistrate.

No saccharine or other material which might obscure the hydrometer reading shall be added to spirit at the distillery, and the spirit distilled shall not be adulterated by the addition of any substance other than water, or in the case of denatured spirit, the ingredients prescribed in that behalf.

7. No spirit shall be removed from the distillery except—

- (a) country spirit issued to licensed vendors, the issue of which shall be conducted in accordance with the rules in force for the management of bonded warehouses, the distillery officer exercising the powers and duties of an officer in charge of a warehouse as therein defined ;
- (b) country spirit issued in bond to such warehouses or other places as may, from time to time, be approved by the Excise Commissioner, such issues being conducted in accordance with rules 23 to 26 of these rules ; and
- (c) denatured spirits prepared and issued in accordance with rules 27 to 40 of these rules.

8. No spirit shall be removed from the distillery until it has been gauged and proved by the distillery officer.

The gauging of spirit before removal shall be effected either—

- (a) by actual measurement in measures of capacity provided by Government for the purpose ; or
- (b) by weighment, in such manner as the Excise Commissioner may direct.

The necessary measures of capacity shall, at least once in each month, be compared by the distillery officer with a standard measure which will be specially set apart for this purpose, and the result recorded in a register in a form prescribed by the Excise Commissioner. On no account is a measuring vessel to be locally repaired or adjusted without the previous sanction of the Excise Commissioner, and every vessel so repaired or adjusted under the Excise Commissioner's sanction shall thereafter be tested against the measure set apart for the purpose before it is again taken into use. For the purpose of gauging by weighment the licensee shall provide a platform weighing machine, the correctness of which shall be tested at least once a week by the distillery officer, the arm weights being adjusted as accurately as possible against standard dead weights placed on the platform. If the error be found to exceed 0.5 per cent. the machine shall not be used until it has been adjusted.

9. If the casks or other receptacles in which removal is to be made are to be filled from a vat, it will suffice to prove the strength of the spirit in the vat, once for all, before any of the receptacles are filled. But in that case the officer in charge must see that no addition to the contents of the vat is made while the filling of the receptacles is in progress. If the vat is in communication with any other room or part of the distillery, by a pipe through which liquor can be passed into it, such pipe must, during the operation of filling casks, etc., for issue, be securely closed by a valve or stopcock on which an excise lock has been fixed. If these conditions are not complied with, the liquor in every cask or receptacle must be separately proved before it is passed out.

Before spirit is proved for issue, it must be well stirred, so that the true average gravity and temperature may be ascertained.

10. The distillery officer and the licensee, respectively, shall maintain in such manner as may be directed by the Excise Commissioner such registers and accounts relating to the manufacture, fermentation, distillation, storage, reduction, blending and issue of wash and of spirit, to the materials, receptacles, vessels, apparatus, utensils and furniture in use or in stock at the distillery, and to the persons employed at the distillery, as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner, and shall submit such copies or extracts therefrom at such intervals and to such officers as he may direct. Such registers, accounts, copies and extracts shall also, at any time during the hours when the distillery is opened for the transaction of business, be available for inspection by the Cantonment Magistrate, Nowgong, the Political Agent in Bundelkhand and the Excise Commissioner, and by such other officers and persons as may be specified by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf.

11. An account of stock will be taken at the end of every quarter and the licensee shall pay to Government at the end of each year of the currency of his license duty at the rate for the time being in force in the Nowgong Cantonment on all spirit which may not be forthcoming, and for which he shall be unable to account to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner, in excess of an allowance of 2 per cent. which will be made for wastage. Provided that the penalty leviable under this rule shall not be enforced in respect of spirit that may be shown to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner to have been wasted or destroyed through accident or other unavoidable cause. Wastage for the purpose of collection of duty on the deficiency (if any) in store at the distillery shall be calculated annually at the end of each year of the currency of the license. The allowance will be calculated on the balance in hand at the commencement of the year plus the quantity produced during the year, exclusive of weak spirit issued for redistillation. In the calculations required for the purposes of this rule, all spirits received, transferred, or in store, shall be reduced to their equivalent in terms of London proof. Government will not be responsible for the destruction, loss or damage of spirit or of the distillery or of the licensee's apparatus or appliances by fire or theft or by gauging, proof or by any other cause whatever. In case of fire or other accident the officer in charge of the distillery shall attend the distillery with the least possible delay.

12. (1) The only holidays that will be observed at the distillery are Sundays, New Year's Day, the Birthday of His Majesty the King-Emperor, Christmas Day, the 26th December, and one day, to be specified by the Cantonment Magistrate, on the occasion of each of the following Indian festivals, viz :—

- (a) the Holi, Dasehra and Diwali if the officer in charge of the distillery and his assistant are both Hindus,
- (b) the Id-ul-Zoha, Id- ul-Fitr, and Moharram if the officer in charge of the distillery and his assistant are both Mussalmans.

(2) The ordinary hours of attendance at the distillery of the officer in charge and of his assistant (if any) and the conditions of their attendance at other hours or on holidays shall be as prescribed by the Excise Commissioner, who shall also determine what operations may be conducted in their absence and under what conditions they may be so conducted.

13. The guard maintained at the distillery shall ordinarily consist of three peons, who will be required to reside on the premises and one of whom will be constantly on duty at the main gate of the distillery, which (unless work requiring it to remain open is in progress with the permission of the distillery officer) will be locked at night. The other entrances, if any, to the distillery shall ordinarily be kept locked, the keys remaining in the custody of the distillery officer, and shall be opened only under the orders of such officer, by whom a peon shall be posted at each such entrance so long as it remains open.

14. The distillery and the officers employed therein shall be under the direct control of the Cantonment Magistrate, Nowgong, subject to the orders of the Excise Commissioner.

15. The distillery shall be open only to persons having business thereat. Ordinarily except with the permission of the Cantonment Magistrate, Nowgong, no person other than the officers mentioned in rule 10 and officers and persons specified under rule 10, the members of the establishment employed at the distillery, the licensee and his agents and servants shall be admitted. A register shall be kept of the names of all persons employed by the licensee, and such persons may, under the orders of the Excise Commissioner, be required to wear, whilst in the distillery, a badge or distinctive uniform to be provided by the licensee. The Excise Commissioner may, for reasons recorded in writing, direct that the name of any person be struck off the register, and that he be excluded from the distillery. All persons other than the officers mentioned in rule 10 entering the distillery, shall, in respect of their conduct and proceedings while in the distillery, be under the orders of the officer in charge, and shall, unless they are persons who have been specified under rule 10, be liable to search, on quitting the premises, at the discretion of that officer. Smoking, and the use of matches or of naked lights in the still room or storage rooms, are strictly prohibited. If lights other than electric lights are necessary, closed lanterns (to be supplied by the licensee) of a make approved by the Excise Commissioner, shall be used.

16. The distillery officer may eject and exclude from the premises any person whom he may find to have committed, or to be about to commit any breach of these rules, or of the provisions of the Excise Law, or who shall be intoxicated, riotous, or disorderly. Any action taken by such officer under this rule shall immediately be reported by him to the Cantonment Magistrate.

17. If it comes to the knowledge of the licensee or his agent that any person employed by such licensee in the manufacture, storage, receipt, blending, transport or issue of spirits has committed any breach of the Excise Laws or of the engagements entered into by such licensee, it shall be his duty to report the matter through the distillery officer to the Cantonment Magistrate, and to comply with the latter's directions respecting the continued employment of such person.

18. In the event of the licensee or his agent or any person in his employment, with his connivance or privity, committing a breach of these rules or of the conditions of the license or attempting to deceive the officer in charge in gauging or proving, by altering the capacities of receptacles or otherwise, the Excise Commissioner may impose upon the licensee a fine not exceeding the sum of Rs. 50 for every such breach of such rules or conditions or attempt, or may forfeit the security, if any, deposited by the licensee under his distillery license or under any other license held by him, and may cancel his distillery license and any other excise license held by him.

19. The imposition of a fine or the forfeiture of deposit or the cancellation of the license under the last preceding rule shall not be held to prevent the prosecution of any person for any offence which may have been committed against the provisions of the Excise Law or other law for the time being in force and relating to the Excise Revenue. If the licensee or his agent shall be convicted on prosecution before a Magistrate of any offence against the Excise Law, or other law for the time being in force and relating to the excise revenue, it shall be lawful for the Excise Commissioner to declare his license forfeited.

20. Any duty or penalty leviable under these rules may be recovered from the licensee in the manner provided by section 17 of the Excise Law, or may be deducted from the sum deposited by him as security under the license held by him for the wholesale supply of country spirit in the Nowgong Cantonment, or from any sum due to him under the conditions of that license.

21. Any sum deducted under these rules from any amount deposited by the licensee as security shall be replaced by the latter within 15 days from the date of receipt of a notice from the Excise Commissioner informing him of such deduction having been made.

22. On the expiry of his license (unless a fresh license shall have been granted him) or if his license shall be cancelled or suspended the licensee shall be bound forthwith either (if a license for the distillery is granted to any other person) to transfer to such person at a price fixed by the Excise Commissioner all spirits remaining in the distillery, or to pay the duty on, and to remove, all spirits remaining within the distillery, and if he shall fail to do so within 10 days of the receipt of written notice from the Excise Commissioner, the cost of any establishment which it may by such failure be rendered necessary to employ at the distillery may be recovered from the defaulter. In the event of continued neglect, the spirits shall be liable to be forfeited at the discretion of the Excise Commissioner.

ISSUE OF COUNTRY SPIRIT IN BOND.

23. Spirit issued in bond under rule 7 (b) shall be issued under passes in triplicate in such form as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner. One copy shall be retained by the distillery officer, a second sent by him direct to the officer in charge of the warehouse of destination or other officer specified by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf, and a third given to the licensee, who will arrange for it to accompany the consignment to its destination (or, if despatched by rail, to the railway station from which it is booked) and to be delivered to the officer in charge of the warehouse or other officer specified by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf. The said officer will retain this copy and will return the other copy received by him direct to the distillery officer for record after endorsing on it the particulars of the spirit received. This copy will be pasted by the distillery officer to its counterfoil. The pass will protect the consignment only so long as it travels by the most direct route to its destination, and as bulk remains unbroken.

The licensee shall be responsible for the conveyance of the spirit in its entirety to the destination named in the pass and shall be liable to pay duty at the highest rate leviable in the area in which the warehouse or other place of destination is situated or in the Nowgong Cantonment (whichever may be higher) on all spirit despatched from the distillery which he shall fail either to produce at the warehouse or other place of destination within such period as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf or to account to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner for his failure to do so. Provided that such an allowance for dryage in transit as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf shall be deducted from any deficiency that may occur in transit. Provided also that the spirit shall, on arrival at the warehouse or other place of destination, be disposed of in accordance with the law and rules from time to time in force for the conduct of business at the warehouse or for the disposal of the spirit in the case of places other than warehouses.

24. Spirit may be removed in bond only in—

- (i) casks ;
- (ii) metal tanks or drums.

Each such receptacle must have the name of the distillery legibly cut, branded or marked in oil paint, and must also, on each occasion on which it is filled for issue, have similiary cut, branded, or marked on it

- (a) its capacity in gallons and tenths of a gallon ;
- (b) its actual contents in gallons and tenths of a gallon.
- (c) the number assigned to it.

25. For the purposes of the foregoing rule every cask, tank, or drum, on being returned to the distillery for refilling, must be gauged and numbered, as if it were an entirely new receptacle, in such a manner as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner.

26. All receptacles in which spirit is removed under rule 24 shall, before issue, be sealed by the distillery officer in such manner as may be directed by the Excise Commissioner. It is the duty of the licensee to prepare the receptacles, to the distillery officer's satisfaction, for sealing.

DENATURING OF SPIRIT AND THE ISSUE FROM THE DISTILLERY OF DENATURED SPIRIT.

27. The denaturants used shall be light caoutchoucine and mineral pyridine bases, and shall conform to such specifications as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner in this behalf. They shall be added in the proportion of one part of each to 200 parts of spirit, the strength of which shall not be less than 50 Over Proof. They shall be supplied by the licensee.

28. The denaturants proposed to be used shall be presented to the distillery officer, accompanied by a guarantee of the mineral source of the pyridine bases, and shall thereafter be kept in his custody in a receptacle capable of being locked to be provided by the licensee.

29. The Cantonment Magistrate shall send samples of 12 ounces of each of the denaturants, separately, for examination to the Chemical Examiner for Customs and Excise, Calcutta, and pending his report they shall be kept separate from any previously approved stock. If the report of the Chemical Examiner is to the effect that the materials comply with the specification, they may be used; otherwise they shall be returned to the licensee. The approved stock shall be kept in fixed upright receptacles provided with taps, marked "Pyridine bases" and "Caoutchoucine", respectively, and painted black and yellow respectively.

NOTE.—Light caoutchoucine should not contain any appreciable amount of water. Samples should therefore be drawn from the bottom of the containing vessel (where the water, if present will be found) by means of a siphon tube of which the shorter limb reaches to the bottom of the containing vessel; and the fact that this has been done should be certified on the bottle containing the sample. Care should be taken to collect the sample in a bottle free of moisture.

30. Denaturation shall be effected only in the presence of the Cantonment Magistrate.

31. Not less than 200 gallons spirit shall be treated at one time.

32. Denaturation shall be effected in a fixed vat of not less than 225 gallons capacity, which shall be distinctively painted with green paint and shall be gauged to show the contents at every inch and tenth of an inch of its depth. The vat must be completely emptied before each operation.

33. The spirit to be denatured shall first be gauged and proved by the Cantonment Magistrate, who shall be careful to ascertain that no denaturant is already present therein. The smell, taste, and evidence of turbidity on dilution with water are the simplest available tests. The requisite proportion of denaturants should then be placed in the vat, and the whole should then be thoroughly mixed with a proper stirring implement.

34. The Cantonment Magistrate shall, not less than once in every six months, and without previous notice to the licensee cause a sample of denatured spirit, amounting to about six fluid ounces, to be taken from stock in his presence and sent to the Chemical Examiner for Customs and Excise for examination and report. Should the Chemical Examiner's report be that the spirit has not been satisfactorily denatured, it shall at once either be treated again and a fresh sample sent to the Chemical Examiner, or destroyed. A copy of every report from the Chemical Examiner shall be forwarded to the Excise Commissioner.

35. Every vat used for the denaturation of spirit or for the storage of denatured spirit shall be conspicuously marked "denatured spirit".

36. The cost of analysing samples submitted to the Chemical Examiner under these rules, as well as freight charges, shall be borne by Government.

37. Any person desiring to remove denatured spirit from the distillery shall present to the distillery officer an application stating—

- (a) the name and particulars of the person by whom the spirit will be removed from the distillery;
- (b) the name and particulars of the person to whom the spirit will be consigned;
- (c) the destination to which the spirit will be consigned;
- (d) the route by which the spirit will be carried.

38. Every such application must be accompanied by a permit from the Collector, Chief Revenue authority or other authorized officer of the district or place of import, authorizing the import of the spirit and specifying the amount to be imported.

NOTE.—(a) The permit may either be a special permit, of a general permit covering all consignments up to a specified amount issued within a period not exceeding one year.

(b) In the case of applications to remove denatured spirit to places situated in the Central Provinces a license for the sale or possession of denatured spirit in the Central Provinces shall be deemed to be a general permit granted by the Collector of the district in which the licensed premises are situated and covering all spirit (up to the limit, if any, entered in the license) required by the holder of the license during the period of the license. A copy of every such license produced in support of an application for the removal of spirit, certified by the officer in charge of the distillery as a "True Copy", shall be filed in the distillery.

39. The distillery officer shall thereupon (unless he sees reason to the contrary, which shall be recorded in writing and immediately reported for the orders of the Cantonment Magistrate) issue a pass in such form as may be prescribed by the Excise Commissioner authorizing the removal of the denatured spirit from the distillery.

The pass shall be in triplicate. One copy shall be delivered to the person removing the spirit, and shall accompany the spirit to its destination, the second shall be forwarded to the officer by whom the permit to import was granted, and the third shall be filed by the distillery officer.

40. Whenever the Cantonment Magistrate attends the distillery for the purpose of supervising the denaturing of spirit, he shall initial the entries in the distillery accounts relating to the transaction and shall also record a certificate "Certified that on the _____ gallons of spirit _____ over proof, equivalent to _____ proof gallons were denatured in my presence".

41. Rules 24 to 26 shall apply to the receptacles used for the issue of denatured spirit. All such receptacles shall be distinctively coloured with green paint.

42. Subject to such special conditions as he may prescribe, the Excise Commissioner may permit the issue to the Eastern States of Central India Export Trust Company, Ltd., Maihar, of spirit specially denatured with 5 per cent. by volume of wood-naphtha conforming to such specifications as may be prescribed by him in this behalf. The denaturing, storage and issue of such spirit shall be conducted generally in accordance with rules 27 to 41. The receptacle containing the approved stock of wood-naphtha shall be painted blue and marked "wood-naphtha", and the vats used for storage of the specially denatured spirit shall be painted blue and conspicuously marked "specially denatured spirit". The receptacles used for the issue of specially denatured spirit shall be painted blue. The countersignature by the Political Agent in Baghelkhand of the application required by rule 37 shall be deemed to be the permit required by rule 38.

TARIFF VALUATION OF SUGAR.

The following statement shows in respect of each of the descriptions of sugar distinguished in the Tariff Schedule II (excepting molasses and all other kinds of sugar), first, the total imports into India in the month of September 1917, and the average value per cwt. as calculated on the returns received from the Customs Houses; and, secondly, a running total showing the total imports into India since the beginning of the year (1st October to 30th September) and the average net value per cwt. so far established. It is published in conformity with the procedure laid down in Customs Circular No. V of 1911, in order to enable merchants to compute the probable rate of duty for the year 1918:—

PRICES AND FREIGHTS IN CALCUTTA AT THE END OF SEPTEMBER 1917.

1. Wholesale prices.

The general level of wholesale prices in Calcutta at the end of September, 1917, was 43 per cent higher than at the outbreak of war, and compared with the corresponding periods in 1916 and 1915, it rose by 12 per cent and 25 per cent respectively. The level was 1 per cent higher than that of the preceding month (August 1917).

As compared with the pre-war period, the prices of imported articles have increased, namely, salt (292 per cent), metals (176 per cent), cotton manufactures (134 per cent), sugar (90 per cent), and Kerosene oil (39 per cent). The prices of indigo have also risen by 157 per cent, as against 271 per cent at the end of September, 1915 and 1916. The rise in shellac was 107 per cent, cotton raw 73 per cent, saltpetre 60 per cent, silk, raw 32 per cent, and wool, raw 20 per cent.

The price of jute manufactures advanced by 68 per cent, but that of the raw product fell 37 per cent. The fall in the price of tea by 15 per cent is noteworthy. Food-grains (cereals and pulses) showed a fall of 7 per cent, but wheat alone rose 10 per cent. The prices of oilseeds fell 17 per cent and of hides and skins 11 per cent.

2. Retail prices of food-stuffs in Calcutta.

At the end of September, 1917, retail prices of food-stuffs in Calcutta showed a rise of 20 per cent over the pre-war level, and of 8 per cent and 10 per cent respectively as compared with the corresponding periods in 1916 and 1915. The general average was 1 per cent higher than in the preceding month. This index number is unweighted.

It will be seen that at the end of September, 1917, the prices of salt and sugar were 100 per cent and 95 per cent respectively higher than the pre-war prices. Dairy products rose 37 per cent, fruits and vegetables 21 per cent, tea 19 per cent, and wheat flour 17 per cent, but food-grains, cereals and pulses taken together, rose only 10 per cent. The price of fish advanced 10 per cent and of pulses 9 per cent. There was a decrease of 22 per cent in the price of mustard oil, 13 per cent in eggs, and 4 per cent in meat.

3. Freights from Calcutta.

The level of freights from Calcutta at the end of September, 1917, in respect of certain staple articles, as compared with the corresponding periods in 1916 and 1915, shows that the rate for jute to Dundee has increased to nearly 18 times the pre-war rate. The rates for rice and wheat to London and Liverpool are now  $14\frac{1}{2}$  times, for cotton 13 times, for hides to London 9 times, and for rice to Mauritius nearly 5 times, the pre-war rates. The freight for tea to London is only twice the rate that ruled before the war.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN AUGUST, 1917.

The object of the tables appended is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi, and into the Madras ports during the month of August, 1917, and for the five months April to August, 1917, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1916. The statistics include foreign sea-borne and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and river-borne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN AUGUST, 1916 AND 1917.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river, and sea in August, 1917, as against the corresponding month of 1916, show (in round numbers) an increase of—

54 per cent in raw cotton.

(135,400 bales as against 87,700 bales last year.)

31 per cent in tea.

(57,540,700 lbs as against 28,625,000 lbs last year.)

31 per cent in gram and pulse.

(81,800 tons as against 24,300 tons last year.)

4 per cent in rice (including paddy).

(87,900 tons as against 84,100 tons last year.)

The imports of rape and mustard seed by rail, river, and sea into ports show a decrease of 63 per cent (4,600 tons as against 12,400 tons last year) due mainly to smaller exports from the United Provinces. The decrease of 58 per cent (14,800 tons as against 34,900 tons last year) in the imports of linseed is accounted for by smaller exports principally from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces. The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) show a decrease of 24 per cent (157,200 tons as against 206,100 tons last year) owing mainly to smaller exports from the Punjab. The fall of 5 per cent (399,000 bales as against 418,800 bales last year) in the import of jute into Calcutta is chiefly due to smaller exports from Bengal.

It will be seen from Table IV (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal source of the imports in August, 1916, was the Punjab. During the corresponding month of 1917 also, the Punjab sent by far the largest quantity, namely, 63 per cent of the total.

NOTE.— One bale of cotton or jute is equivalent to 400 lbs.

One maund is equivalent to 82½ lbs.

One maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

GENERAL RESULTS—FIVE MONTHS' IMPORTS INTO THE PORTS FROM UP COUNTRY, ETC., THIS YEAR AND LAST YEAR.

The five months' figures in table I show (in round numbers) an increase of—

125 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour.)

(1,299,300 tons as against 578,100 tons last year.)

103 per cent in gram and pulse.

(361,200 tons as against 177,800 tons last year.)

70 per cent in raw cotton.

(1,749,000 bales as against 1,026,800 bales last year.)

8 per cent in jute.

(1,002,000 bales as against 923,400 bales last year.)

3 per cent in tea

(83,932,300 lbs. as against 81,193,400 lbs. last year.)

The imports of linseed by rail, river and sea into ports show a decrease of 59 per cent (93,800 tons as against 229,100 tons last year) mainly on account of smaller exports from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces. The fall of 28 per cent (66,400 tons as against 92,700 tons last year) in rape and mustard seed is accounted for by smaller exports into the ports from the United Provinces. The decrease of 11 per cent (385,000 tons as against 435,000 tons last year) in rice (including paddy) is chiefly due to smaller shipments from Burma.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN AUGUST, 1917, AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with July 1917, the imports in August 1917 into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) a decrease of—

65 per cent in gram and pulse

(31,800 tons as against 91,000 tons previous month.)

60 per cent in rape and mustard seed

(4,600 tons as against 11,600 tons previous month.)

57 per cent in raw cotton

(135,400 bales as against 312,200 bales previous month.)

51 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)

(157,200 tons as against 323,600 tons previous month.)

11 per cent in linseed

(14,800 tons as against 16,500 tons previous month.)

and an increase of—

206 per cent in jute

(899,000 bales as against 130,400 bales previous month.)

203 per cent in tea

(37,540,700 lbs. as against 12,373,100 lbs. previous month.)

(d) Includes two companies limited by shares transferred to register of private companies.

This statement is compiled from returns furnished half-yearly by Registrars of Joint Stock Companies. From a comparison of columns 2 and 3 with columns 15 and 16, it will be seen that at the end of June, 1917, the total paid-up share capital of companies registered under the Indian Companies Act (VII of 1913) in British India amounted to over Rs. 90 crores and the debenture capital of such companies over Rs. 13 crores, showing a net increase of Rs. 3·5 crores in paid-up share capital, and of nearly Rs. 24 lakhs in debenture capital, as compared with the preceding half-year ending December, 1916. In the paid-up share capital Bengal shows a net increase of Rs. 1,98,55,000 and Bombay of Rs. 84,10,000. In the debenture capital Bombay shows a net increase of Rs. 28,66,000 and Madras of Rs. 49,000, while Bengal shows a net decrease of Rs. 2,66,000 and the Punjab of Rs. 2,95,000.

The following statement compares the total paid-up share and debenture capital in British India at the end of the half-year of report with the preceding half-year, the corresponding half-year of the previous year, and the pre-war half-year ending June, 1914 :—

Half-year ending June	1914	Share capital	Debenture capital
		Rs.	Rs.
June 1916	...	75,30,83,000	9,61,56,000
December 1916	...	83,53,71,000	12,61,25,000

June 1917	...	90,11,65,000	13,19,56,000

It will be seen that since the outbreak of war there has been a steady increase both in the paid-up share capital and in the debenture capital.

First INDIGO Forecast, 1917-18.

This forecast is based upon reports received from six provinces, which contain practically the whole area under indigo in British India.

The total area sown is estimated at 617,100 acres, which is practically the same as the revised estimate at the corresponding date of last year. As compared with the final estimate of last year (756,400 acres) the present estimate shows a decrease of 18 per cent.

The total yield of dye is now roughly estimated at 70,000 cwts, as against 75,000 cwts estimated at this time last year, or a decrease of 6·5 per cent. As compared with the final estimate of last year (95,000 cwts) the present estimate shows a decrease of 26 per cent.

Weather conditions at sowing time were favourable, and an extended area was sown with the crop, except in the Madras Deccan, where failure of rains, combined with a fall in prices, curtailed the area to such an extent as to counterbalance the increase in all other provinces. The crop has been adversely affected by excessive rain and floods in Bihar, the Punjab, and the western districts of the United Provinces. Elsewhere the condition of the crop is reported to be good.

Details for the provinces are given below :—

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Madras (43·4 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The area sown, as estimated on 1st September, is 265,700 acres as against 335,300 acres, the revised estimate at the corresponding date of last year, or a decrease of 21 per cent. The decrease is due partly to the failure of rains at the sowing season in the Deccan, and partly to the fall in the local prices of indigo dating from January 1917 and restrictions of exports. This fall, however, did not affect sowings in the southern districts which take place normally in December-January. The season has so far been favourable in the Circars and in the South, but poor in the Deccan. The total yield of dye from this year's crop is provisionally estimated at 34,000 cwts, as against 40,000 cwts estimated at this time last year; but the Director of Agriculture remarks that it is unlikely that more than 24,000 cwts of dye will be made. At least a third of last year's crop remains unexported owing to difficulties of freight, and the local demand for dye is in consequence poor; some of the crop may therefore be used for green manure instead of for making dye.

Bihar and Orissa (31·1 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The area sown this year is estimated at 85,900 acres against 76,500 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year, or an increase of 12 per cent, which is attributed to the high prices of indigo. The weather conditions were favourable at the sowing time and also for the growth of the crop; but owing to unfavourable weather and floods during the manufacturing season, the outturn has been disappointing. For the province as a whole, the outturn is estimated at 67 per cent of the normal, as against 79 per cent at the corresponding period of last year. According to the estimates, furnished by the Bihar Planters' Association, for Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga, and by the District Officers for the remaining four districts, the total yield for the province works out to 10,300 cwts, as against 10,800 cwts estimated at this time last year, or a decrease of nearly 5 per cent. The trade estimate for the province (including the Nadia district of Bengal) amounts to 10,700 cwts.

Punjab (12 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area at the end of September is estimated at 70,100 acres, as against 45,200 acres, the revised estimate at the corresponding date of last year, or an increase of 55 per cent. The increase is attributed to high prices of dye stuffs. The excessive rain and floods in August and September damaged the standing crop, and the outturn will not therefore be quite proportionate to the increased area. The total yield is at present estimated at 8,600 cwts, which is 23 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year.

United Provinces (11·7 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area is estimated at 179,000 acres, which is 19 per cent above the estimate made at this time last year. The crop was sown under favourable conditions. The seed germinated well, but the growth of the plants was somewhat affected in the eastern districts by hot winds and in the western by excessive rainfall. On the basis of reports received from factories, the total yield of dye, after allowing for next year's seed, is estimated at 15,000 cwts, as against 16,000 cwts estimated at this time last year.

Bombay and Sind (1·2 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The total area is reported to be 9,400 acres (7,100 acres being in the Khairpur State), which is 22 per cent above the estimate made at this time last year. The expansion is attributed to high prices obtained since the outbreak of war. The crop is doing well, and the yield is estimated at 1,900 cwts as against 1,200 cwts last year.

Bengal (0·5 per cent of the total area under indigo in British India).—The area sown is ## Second COTTON Forecast, 1917-18.

This forecast is based on reports furnished by provinces, which comprise the entire cotton crop of India. It relates generally to sowings made up to the 1st October.

The total area so far reported this year amounts to 21,191,000 acres, which is 17 per cent larger than the estimate at this date last year. The increase, which is due to the high prices obtained last year and to favourable conditions at sowing time, is most noticeable in the Punjab (46 per cent), Rajputana (42 per cent), Ajmer-Merwara (34 per cent), Mysore (33 per cent), Bombay (29 per cent), Central India (16 per cent), the United Provinces (13 per cent), Madras (10 per cent), Hyderabad and the N.-W. Frontier Province (8 per cent each), and the Central Provinces and Berar (6 per cent). Sind alone shows a decrease of 15 per cent.

The crop has been adversely affected by excessive rain in many parts of northern, western, and central India, particularly in Gujarat (Bombay), the United Provinces, Ajmer-Merwara, Hyderabad, and in many of the Central India and Rajputana States. Elsewhere the present condition and prospects of the crop are reported to be generally good.

The detailed figures for the provinces and States are given below :—

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Bombay and Baroda (29·4 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown up to the 1st October with both early and late varieties of cotton is reported at 6,510,000 acres (3,364,000 acres being in the Native States), which is 29 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The increase is general in Gujarat, the Karnatak, and the two Khandesh districts, and is attributed partly to good prices fetched by the crop last year and partly to seasonable sowing rains. In Gujarat the crop is reported to be doing well in light soils, but it is said to be stunted and to have turned yellow in the heavy black soils owing to the continuous and heavy rain in August and September. A good break is very badly required to improve it. In the Deccan the crop is progressing well with the timely September rains, except in parts of Khandesh where heavy continuous rains caused dropping of flowers and bolls. In the Karnatak sowings are still unfinished in places owing to continuous rain, and the seedlings are in good condition.

Central Provinces and Berar (20·4 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown is estimated at 4,691,000 acres (3,282,000 acres being in Berar), which is 6 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. All the important cotton-growing districts have contributed towards the increase, which is due partly to favourable seasonal conditions at sowing time and partly to the high price obtained last year. Moderate to heavy rain was received during June to September. The rainfall was generally well distributed and sufficient for agricultural purposes. The climatic conditions at sowing time were generally favourable, but operations were to some extent hampered owing to excessive rain in parts of Damoh, Seoni, Nimar, Nagpur, Bilaspur, Raipur, and Baldaus. Germination was good. A little resowing was necessary in parts of Seoni, Hoshangabad, Nimar, Chindwara, Wardha, Nagpur, Bhandara, and the Berar districts. Heavy and continuous rain impeded weeding operations, slightly damaged the crop, and stunted its growth.

in parts of several districts, but a spell of dry weather now is likely to improve the prospects. The outturns for the Central Provinces and Berar are at present estimated at 114 and 100 per cent of the normal or 15 per cent and 11 per cent, respectively, in excess of the figures for the corresponding period of last year.

Madras (10·9 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area sown up to the end of September is estimated at 1,353,000 acres, which is 10 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. There is a decrease in the area under "Cocanadas," due partly to heavy and incessant rains retarding sowing operations and partly to an increased area planted with indigo. The areas under other descriptions show an increase. The increase in the area under "Northerns and Westerns" is attributed to the replacement of groundnut by cotton, and that under "Salems" and "Tinnevellys" to the high prices ruling for "Cambodia" cotton and to the favourable season, although the season for sowing the real Tinnevely crop is just commencing.

Punjab (7·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown is estimated at 1,364,000 acres (110,000 acres being in the Native States), as against 934,000 acres reported at this date last year, or an increase of 46 per cent. The increase is attributed to favourable climatic conditions for sowing and to high prices. The Director of Land Records, Punjab, reports that the estimates framed by selected agriculturists of seven important districts indicate an advance of 11 per cent over the district estimates. The season up to the middle of August remained favourable, but thereafter the abnormally heavy rains and floods damaged the standing crop, which is spreading and running to wood. Early flowers have been destroyed. "American" cotton is doing better than the country variety. The first pickings are likely to be delayed two or three weeks beyond the normal time, but the outturn will probably be about the average. In the Rawalpindi and Multan divisions the damage is less serious than in other divisions.

United Provinces (5·5 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area is at present estimated at 1,242,000 acres, which is 13 per cent above the area estimated at the corresponding date of last year. The rainfall during August and September was heavy in all the cotton-growing districts of these provinces. Serious injury from excessive rainfall and high winds is reported from all parts of the provinces, and the crop suffered severely from the heavy storm at the end of September. The present estimate of outturn varies from 55 to 75 per cent of the normal. With fine weather there may be some improvement, but the immediate prospects of the crop are not favourable.

Sind (1·3 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area is estimated at 199,000 acres, which is 15 per cent below the estimate at the corresponding date of last year. The contraction in area is attributed to deficient water supply at sowing time. The crop is reported to be in fairly good condition.

Burma (1 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area is estimated at 230,000 acres, which is 1 per cent in excess of the area reported at this time last year. It is reported that want of early rain and the substitution of beans (pebyugale) for cotton, where possible, have hindered a greater expansion. The standing crop is generally in a satisfactory condition, but want of rain is likely to affect it in Meiktila.

Bihar and Orissa (0·4 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown up to date with both early and late cotton is estimated at 67,000 acres, which is the same as reported at this date last year. For both the varieties the weather conditions have been generally favourable. The present condition of the early crop is reported to be generally good, but some damage has been done to the late crop by floods in parts of South Bihar. In Cuttack and Balasore, where the crop is generally late, sowings have not yet commenced.

Bengal (0·3 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area sown up to date with both early and late cotton is reported to be 72,000 acres, being the same as reported at the corresponding date of last year. The weather has up to the date of report been generally favourable for both crops, except in Midnapur where the rainfall in June and July was too heavy. The present condition of the crop is on the whole promising.

North-West Frontier Province (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The area sown up to the end of September is estimated at 27,000 acres, which is 8 per cent above the area estimated at this time last year. The increase, although shared by all the districts except Dera Ismail Khan, is chiefly noticeable in the Peshawar district. The prospects of the crop are so far satisfactory and an average outturn may be expected.

Assam (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The estimated area under the crop is 32,000 acres, being the same as reported at this time last year. The prospects of the crop have improved since the issue of the first forecast.

Ajmer-Merwara (0·2 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area as now reported is 47,000 acres (Ajmer 24,000 acres, Kekri 13,000 acres, and Merwara 10,000 acres), which is 34 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The crop is reported to have been damaged by continuous and heavy rains, and prospects are so far gloomy.

Hyderabad (14·7 per cent of the total area under cotton in India).—The total area is estimated at 3,374,000 acres as against 3,126,000 acres reported at this time last year, or an increase of 8 per cent. (An area amounting to 813,000 acres has been repeated from previous forecasts for 18 Government talukas and some non-Government area for which no returns have been received.) The detailed figures are as follows:—

Cotton Crop in Foreign Countries.—The latest information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, shows that in the United States of America the area cultivated with cotton in 1917 is 34,600,000 acres, as compared with 35,224,000 acres in 1916. In the Monthly Crop Report of the United States Department of Agriculture for July, 1917, the production of cotton in the United States is at present estimated at 14,541,000 bales of 400 lbs. each as compared with 54,312,000 bales in 1916.

It appears from the Monthly Bulletin of the Ministry of Agriculture, Cairo, for August, 1917, that in Egypt the weather has been quite favourable and the water supply ample, and although some slight attacks of cotton worms have been reported, the crop is generally in good condition. Bolls are developing very fast and a good proportion has opened. The first picking is general in the basin lands of Upper Egypt; elsewhere picking of early cotton has commenced. Excellent yields from the first picking, both as regards quantity and quality, have been obtained in some cases in Upper Egypt. The outturn is estimated at 96 per cent of the average in Upper Egypt and 99 per cent in Lower Egypt.

SECTIONS 62 (d), (e), (f), (g) and (h).

XII. The following conditions are prescribed for the sale of spirits in the district of Abu :—

PART I.

Conditions of auction sale of country spirit license.

(1) The privilege of the sale of country spirits in the liquor shop at Mount Abu will be disposed of by auction.

(2) A deposit of Rs. 50 must be made by each bidder previous to bidding and will be received at any time within three days previous to the date of sale.

(3) An upset price will be fixed at the discretion of the Collector. The reserve price placed by Government on the shop will not be published but the average of the previous five years' consumption will be notified by the Collector of Excise if possible for the information of bidders.

(4) No person will be allowed to bid for another unless he holds a power of attorney from him.

(5) The officer conducting the sale may, at his discretion, refuse to accept the bid of any person on the ground that he has been convicted by a criminal court or has been guilty of such a breach of the conditions of a license or of a contract under the Excise Regulation, as to render him undesirable as a holder of a license, or on the ground that he is insolvent, or in order to prevent arrangements to the detriment of Government interests, or for any other valid reason which shall be recorded in writing. Bids which appear to the Collector to be of a speculative nature or which do not reach the reserve price may be rejected at the discretion of the Collector.

(6) Subject to the provision of rules 4 and 6 the shop will be knocked down to the highest bidder.

(7) In case of dispute during the sale the selling officer's decision shall be final. If for any reason the highest bid is rejected the next highest shall be taken or the shop re-sold at the selling officer's discretion.

(8) As soon as possible after the auction is completed the deposits made by the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them. As the auction proceeds, such person whose bid is accepted shall at once, if so required by the selling officer or otherwise at the close of the day's sale, make a further deposit* of half a month's rent (in addition to the deposit made under clause 3) for the shop unless the initial deposit equals or exceeds two months' rent. Should he fail to do so the deposit made by him under clause 3 will be forfeited and the shop will be put up again on the above conditions or otherwise disposed of as the Collector may determine, and the defaulter will be debarred from bidding again.

(9) The person to whom the shop has been knocked down and who has made deposits as provided in clauses 3 and 8 shall also deposit such further sum as with the former deposit make up two months' rent (to be paid within 10 days from the date of communication of the Collector's acceptance of the bid) and shall without unnecessary delay execute the necessary engagements and take out licenses on the conditions hereinafter set forth. In the case of the purchaser's death after signing the agreement it will be binding on his heirs and assigns. Should the initial deposits exceed the sum required to be deposited under this clause, the excess will be refunded unless the purchaser is required to deposit twice that sum under clause 10 infra.

(10) If on enquiry subsequent to sale the purchaser shall be found to be of doubtful solvency he may be required either to deposit twice the sum prescribed in clause 9 supra or to get a surety or sureties to execute a security bond for the due payment of all moneys that may become due by him under the terms of the contract. The bond shall be stamped (article 34, schedule 1, Act 11 of 1899) and register at the expense of the purchaser if the amount secured exceeds Rupees one thousand.

(11) On the failure of any person to make deposit under clause 9 or to comply with the requisition under clause 10 supra or to execute engagements and take out licenses as aforesaid the deposits already made may be forfeited and the shop be re-sold or otherwise disposed of at the discretion of the Collector.

(12) Re-sales effected under clause 11 will be at the risk of the defaulting bidder who will forfeit all gain and in the event of a loss will be required to make good the deficiency between the total amount payable for the whole period under the terms of the original sale and the total amount payable by the successful bidder at the re-sale. In the latter case the forfeited deposits will be deducted from the loss arising from the re-sale and the remainder if any will be recoverable from the defaulter in the same manner as if it were an arrear of land revenue. Should, however the forfeited deposits be greater than the loss by re-sale the whole of such deposits will be credited to Government. The defaulting bidder will be similarly liable if the privilege is disposed of otherwise than by re-sale and such disposal results in loss to Government as compared with the original sale.

(13) The purchaser of the privilege is liable to the penalties prescribed for breaches of the condition set forth below though a formal license may not have been issued to him.

(14) The deposits referred to in clause 8 or 9 as the case may be will be taken as security for the due performance of the conditions of the license if the Collector and licensee so agree it may be credited towards the last instalment of the Kists payable by the latter.

* Deposits may be in cash or other approved security.

PART II.

The Collector may at any time permit the transfer of a shop within the limits notified for the shop in the sale notice.

(13) The right is reserved to the Collector to grant "Occasional Licenses" for the sale of spirit or fermented liquor on the occurrence of fairs, etc., in places in the vicinity of which there are no regularly licensed shops. Their period shall not exceed ten days, and the fee to be paid therefor shall be fixed at the Collector's discretion.

(14) No spirit or fermented liquor shall be given to :—

Shops not opened by dates to be fixed by the Collector shall be liable to be resold at the risk of the licensee.

(18) No spirit or fermented liquor shall be sold in shops except for cash. The licensee shall be bound to give intimation of the offer of anything other than cash to the nearest Magistrate or Police Officer. All losses on account of suspension and re-sale or other disposal of the privilege shall be borne by the defaulting licensee but he shall have no right to gain if any such accrue. The whole of the deposit, if any, made at the commencement of the lease will be liable to forfeiture. The officer who has the power to suspend the license may, however, at his discretion allow sales to continue pending re-sale or other disposal of the privilege.

(30) Interest on all moneys due shall be payable at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

(31) Infraction of any of the conditions of the license, either by a licensee or by any person in his employment, will entail on the licensee, under the orders of the Collector, either

(a) fine up to Rs. 50 or

(b) forfeiture of deposits, if any, and cancellation of license and re-sale or other disposal of the privilege at the risk of the licensee.

The licensee or his agent may also be prosecuted for the specific offence committed.

The rent for the whole lease shall become at once due, when a lease is cancelled under this condition.

(NOTE.—For continuing breaches of a license, continuing fines may be imposed.)

(32) Any license may be forfeited and the privilege be re-sold or otherwise disposed of at the risk of the licensee, if the licensee be convicted before a Magistrate of any offence against the Excise Regulation or of any offence under the Indian Penal Code, which in the Collector's opinion renders him unfit to hold it. The purchaser of a privilege is liable to the penalties prescribed in this condition if he is convicted of any such offence as above contemplated after the confirmation of the sale of the privilege to him though before issue of a formal license. (36) All licensees shall be bound by any additional general rules that may be prescribed under the Excise Laws, and, if so required by the Collector or any officer authorised by him, to deliver up their licenses for amendment or for the issue of fresh ones.

(37) No person holding a license shall compound or bottle spirit unless he holds separate licenses authorising him to do so.

From the marks assigned to Candidates in each subject such deduction will be made as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

Consistently with the limitations specified above Candidates are at liberty to name any of the foregoing subjects, provided that the maximum number of marks that can be obtained from the subjects chosen is limited to 6,000. If this maximum is exceeded by a Candidate's selection he will be required to indicate one of his subjects, the marks for which should, in his case, be reduced so as to bring his maximum marks within the prescribed limit. The marks so reduced will be subject to a correspondingly reduced deduction.

Moreover, if a Candidate's handwriting is not easily legible a further deduction will, on that account, be made from the total marks otherwise accruing to him.*

6. A list of the competitors shall be made out in order of their proficiency as disclosed by the aggregate marks finally awarded to each competitor, and in that order so many competitors, up to the determined number of appointments, as are found by the Civil Service Commissioners to be qualified by examination, shall be designated to be Selected Candidates for the Indian Civil Service, provided that they appear to be duly qualified in other respects. Should any Selected Candidate become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled or not. In the former case the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a Selected Candidate.

7. Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will undergo an examination, called the Final Examination, in the following compulsory subjects (b):—

	Marks.
1. Indian Penal Code ... ..	400
2. Code of Criminal Procedure ... ..	200
3. The Indian Evidence Act ... ..	200
4. Indian History ... ..	400
5. The principal Vernacular Language of the Province to which the Candidate is assigned ... ..	400

The principal Vernacular Language prescribed for each Province to which Candidates are assigned is as follows:—

For the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab or the Central Provinces ... ..	Hindustani.
For Bengal or Assam ... .. (unless it is the Candidate's mother tongue).	Bengali.
For Bihar and Orissa ... ..	Hindustani.
For Burma ... ..	Burmese.
For Bombay ... .. (unless it is the Candidate's mother tongue).	Marathi
For Madras ... ..	Tamil or Telugu.
(at the option of the Candidate).

In Hindustani the Candidate will be required to be acquainted with both the Persian and the Nagari character.

A Candidate assigned to Bengal or Assam, whose mother tongue is Bengali, must offer for examination Hindustani; a Candidate assigned to Bombay, whose mother tongue is Marathi, must offer for examination Hindustani; and a Candidate assigned to Madras, whose mother tongue is either of the languages shown against his Province, must offer the other for examination.

8. Selected Candidates may in addition offer in the Final Examination one of the following optional subjects:—

	Marks.
1. Hindu and Mohammadan Law ... ..	450
2. Sanskrit ... ..	400

* It is notified for general information that the number of marks deducted for bad handwriting may be considerable.

(b) Instructions, showing the extent of the examination, will be issued to Selected Candidates, as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.

					Marks.
3. Arabic	...	...	...	...	400
4. Persian	...	...	...	...	400
5. Hindustani	...	...	...	...	400

No Candidate who offered Sanskrit or Arabic at the Open Competition may offer the same language at the Final Examination ; and only Candidates assigned to the Province of Burma may offer Hindustani as an optional subject.

9. In the Final Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary.

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination.

10. The Selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in riding will be held as follows :—

- (1) Shortly after the result of the Open Competitive Examination has been declared, or at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary year.
- (2) Again, at the time of the Final Examination. Candidates who may then satisfy the Commissioners that they are sufficiently at home in the saddle for the efficient performance of all the duties of the Indian Civil Service will be awarded marks ranging between 101 and 200 according to the degree of proficiency displayed, to be added to their marks in the Final Examination. Candidates who fall short of this adequate proficiency but show such minimum proficiency as is evidence that with a moderate amount of practice they can attain full proficiency, will receive marks ranging between 1 and 100; they will be allowed to proceed to India and will on their arrival there be subjected to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of that Government.

A Candidate who fails at the end of the year of probation to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that he has reached the minimum standard of proficiency in riding, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of Selected Candidates.

11. The Selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 7, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Indian Civil Service provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms which may be obtained from "The Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. No person will be admitted to the Examination from whom the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners has not received on or before the 1st June (or, if that date should fall on a Sunday or Public holiday, then, on or before the first day thereafter on which their office is open), in the year in which the Examination is to be held, an application, in the handwriting of the Candidate, on the prescribed form.

APPENDIX.

1. Any person who has joined since the 4th August, 1914, or may join during the present war, the Army or Navy or Royal Marines, or has rendered or may render during the same period actual military service in the Special Reserve or Territorial Force, Royal Naval Reserve or Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, may, if eligible in point of age under the Regulations as they now stand for admission to the examination or competition held in 1915, 1916, or 1917 (but over age in 1916, 1917, or 1918, respectively), deduct from his actual age at the time of the examination or competition held in 1916, 1917 or 1918, as the case may be :—

(a) The actual period of such service, if it has not exceeded three months.

(b) One year, if the actual period of service has exceeded three months. No candidate will be allowed to deduct more than one year from his actual age.

2. The same concession may also be granted to those who have been employed during the same period in connection with the armed forces of the Crown at home or abroad giving their whole time and under obligation to serve for the duration of the war or until their discharge, or for any period not terminable at their own option, provided that their employment be not on ordinary commercial terms, such as that of Assistant Paymasters, Clerks, artisans, and the like.

3. The grant of the concession described in paragraph (2) will be at the discretion of the Civil Service Commissioners, whose decision in each case will be final. Candidates who contemplate applying for an age deduction under (2) will do well to apply to the Civil Service Commission for a ruling on their case.

4. Candidates to be eligible for the concessions in (1) or (2) must furnish an official certificate of the period and satisfactory character of their service and if any doubt arise whether the service of any candidate is of the kind contemplated, the Secretary of State for India in Council reserves to the Civil Service Commissioners the right to decide the case upon its merits.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements :—

(i) Selected Candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) Except in the case of persons continuing to receive Scholarship allowances of equal or greater amounts from the Government of India an allowance amounting to £150 will be given to any Candidate who passes his probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrews, and Aberdeen; the School of Oriental Studies, London Institution, Finsbury Circus; Victoria University, Manchester.

This allowance will be paid to the Selected Candidate in four instalments on the following dates, respectively :—December 24th, after his selection, March 25th, June 24th, and the date of his signing his covenant on being finally appointed to the Service.

An allowance on account of passage to India will be paid to each newly appointed civilian to the amount of £40, for passage to Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, and £50 for passage to Rangoon. These allowances will only be paid after production of evidence that the Officer has engaged a First Class passage. An Officer who prefers it can have a First Class passage taken for him by the India Office in lieu of receiving a passage allowance. Applications giving proposed dates of sailing should be made to the Secretary, Judicial and Public Department, India Office, London, S.W. 1.

The payment of each of the first three instalments will be conditional on the receipt by the Secretary of State, through the Civil Service Commissioners, of a Certificate that the Candidate has fulfilled up to date the requirements of the Authorities, and shown satisfactory conduct at the Authorized University or College; the fourth and final instalment will be paid as soon as the Selected Candidate has signed his covenant, and for its payment no certificate from College Authorities will be required.

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

(iii) Each Candidate will be required before receiving the first instalment of his allowance to execute an agreement binding himself and one surety, jointly and severally, to refund all monies he may have received from the Secretary of State for India in the event of—

- (1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Indian Civil Service, or

- (2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.

(iv) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force, they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(v) The seniority in the Indian Civil Service of the Candidates obtaining Certificates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations, but may ultimately be affected by appointments made by the Secretary of State under the Temporary Provisions Act, 1915.

(vi) Candidates obtaining Certificates will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificates of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(vii) Candidates who fail to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected, and will not be allowed to present themselves for re-examination, unless it shall appear to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that such failure is due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond the control of the Candidate.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

Syllabus of an Open Competitive Examination for the Indian Civil Service to be held in the year 1918, and of any other competition that may be held in combination therewith.

In view of the importance of legible handwriting in the public service, Candidates are warned that the provision as to deductions for bad handwriting in these competitions will be strictly enforced.

Candidates are warned that full marks cannot be obtained on any paper unless the whole of it is answered, or, in cases where the number of questions to be answered is specified, unless the full number specified is answered.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several specified subjects.

Sanskrit Language and Literature.—Translation from Sanskrit; composition in Sanskrit; Sanskrit Literature, including the life, thought, and antiquities of Ancient India, together with such knowledge of history as bears upon the subject; questions on the Sanskrit Language (including questions on Philology).

Composition will be required in Classical Sanskrit alone; elsewhere Vedic Sanskrit is also included.

Candidates are expected to make a special study of the Seventh Mandala of the Rig-veda, but other Vedic hymns may also be set in the examination.

Greek Literature.—Questions on the Greek Language (including questions on Philology), Literature, and Antiquities

Latin Literature.—Questions on the Latin Language (including questions on Philology) and on Roman Literature and Antiquities.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one Candidates will be expected to shew a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented in the chief writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III and the death of Queen Victoria.

A minute and detailed knowledge will not be looked for in this part of the Examination; but its aim will be to test how far the Candidates have studied at first hand the chief productions of the greatest English writers, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the following periods, which will follow each other year by year in rotation:—

Period I: 1360 to 1600, Chaucer to Spenser.

Period II: 1600 to 1660, The later Elizabethans.

Period III: 1660 to 1744, The age of Dryden and Pope.

Period IV: 1744 to 1800, From the death of Pope to the death of Cowper.

Period V: 1800 to 1832, Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott.

Period VI: 1832 to 1892, From the death of Scott to the death of Tennyson.

The Examination in this part will require from the Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners. The names and other indications placed beside the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare and Milton, for example, will be regarded as falling within the period 1600 to 1660; all the works of Wordsworth and Coleridge within the period 1800 to 1832; all the works of Carlyle, Landor, and Macaulay within the period 1832 to 1892.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

OPEN COMPETITION OF 1918.

FORM TO BE FILLED UP BY CANDIDATES FOR EXAMINATION.

* The order for admission to the Examination will not be issued unless this Form, filled up by the Candidate himself, is received by the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission on or before the 1st June 1918.

SIR,

I beg to inform you that I wish to be admitted to the Open Competitive Examination for the Indian Civil Service, which is appointed to commence in London on the 1st of August, 1918.

A Candidate whose case may come under Clause 2 (i) (B) of the Regulations should state the facts fully in a separate letter.

I am a British subject.

I hereby declare that I was born on the _____ day of _____

Candidate 18, and that therefore I shall have attained the age of 22 years and shall not have attained the age of 24* years on the 1st of August, 1918; I also declare that I have no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting me, or likely to unfit me, for the Indian Civil Service; and that I am of good moral character, and otherwise eligible under the Regulations; and I undertake that, if I am successful, I will conform, during my period of probation, to such rules respecting the conduct of Public Servants as have been laid down, or may hereafter be laid down, by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

Candidates who are not Natives of India should strike out this paragraph.

George the Fifth by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India : To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting :

Whereas we did by Royal Warrant under Our Sign Manual dated 28th December, 1914, institute and create a new Decoration entitled "The Military Cross" to be awarded to Officers of certain ranks in Our Army in recognition of distinguished and meritorious services in time of war :

And whereas we are desirous that certain alterations should be made in the regulations governing the said Decoration, We do hereby ordain that the provisions of Our said Royal Warrant shall be cancelled, and that the following regulations shall be substituted in lieu thereof :—

Firstly :—It is ordained that the Cross shall be designated "The Military Cross."

Secondly :—It is ordained that The Military Cross shall consist of a Cross of Silver having on each arm the Imperial Crown and bearing in the centre the Royal and Imperial Cipher.

Thirdly :—It is ordained that no person shall be eligible for this Decoration nor be nominated thereto unless he be a captain, a Commissioned Officer of a lower grade, or a Warrant Officer, Class I, or Class II, in Our Army, or Our Indian or Colonial Military Forces, and that the Military Cross shall be awarded only to Officers of the above ranks on a recommendation to Us by Our Principal Secretary of State for War.

Fourthly :—It is ordained that Foreign Officers of an equivalent rank to those above mentioned, who have been associated in Military Operations with Our Army, or Our Indian or Colonial Military Forces, shall be eligible for the award of The Military Cross.

Fifthly :—It is ordained that anyone, who after having performed services for which the Military Cross is awarded, subsequently performs an approved act of gallantry which, if he had not received the Cross, would have entitled him to it, shall be awarded a bar to be attached to the riband by which the Cross is suspended, and for every additional such act an additional bar may be added.

Sixthly :—It is ordained that the names of those upon whom We may be pleased to confer this Decoration shall be published in the London Gazette, and that a Register thereof shall be kept in the Office of Our Principal Secretary of State for War.

Seventhly :—It is ordained that the Military Cross shall be worn immediately after all Orders and before all Decorations and Medals (The Victoria Cross alone excepted), and shall be worn on the left breast pendent from a riband of one inch and three-eighths in width, which shall be in colour white with a purple stripe.

Eighthly :—It is ordained that the Military Cross shall not confer any individual precedence, but shall entitle the recipient to the addition after his name of the letters M.C.

Ninthly :—It is ordained that any person whom by an especial Warrant under Our Royal Sign Manual We declare to have forfeited the Military Cross shall return the said Decoration to the Office of Our Principal Secretary of State for War, and that his name shall be erased from the Register of those upon whom the said Decoration shall have been conferred.

(3) The person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head " Interest on securities " shall, at the time of payment, deduct income-tax on the amount of the interest payable at the maximum rate specified in Schedule I. (3) On the day specified in the notice, or as soon afterwards as may be, the Collector, after examining such accounts and documents, and hearing any evidence the assessee may produce and such other evidence as the Collector may require, shall, by an order in writing, determine the amount of the assessment.

24. The Commissioner may, of his own motion, call for the record of any assessment proceeding which has been taken by any officer subordinate to him, and make such inquiry and pass such orders thereon as he may think fit:

Provided that he shall not pass any order of enhancement without hearing the assessee or giving him a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

25. If the Collector or the Commissioner in making an assessment is satisfied that the assessee has concealed the particulars of his income or has deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars of such income, and has thereby returned it below its real amount, the Collector or the Commissioner may direct that the assessee shall pay on the difference between the amount of the assessment or the amount of the enhanced assessment as the case may be, and the amount originally returned by the assessee, income-tax at double the rate which would otherwise have been payable:

Provided that no such order shall be made unless the assessee has been heard or has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The present Bill, which practically recasts the whole of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1886 (II of 1886), has a three-fold purpose. In the first place, it remedies certain inequalities in the assessment of individual taxpayers under the existing law, which have become especially apparent since a graduated scale of the tax was introduced by Act V of 1916. Secondly, it defines more precisely than the existing Act the methods whereby income and profits of various descriptions are to be calculated for income tax purposes, so removing a defect which has led to some lack of uniformity in the assessing standards of different provinces. And, lastly, it effects a number of improvements in the machinery of assessment which experience has shown to be essential for the efficient and equitable working of the tax.

2. The recent introduction of graduated rates of income tax makes it necessary to abandon the system of assessing the tax separately on the different sources of income falling under the four Parts of the second schedule to Act II of 1886, since with this system an assessee deriving his income from more than one source may be called on to pay appreciably less than a person of equal taxable capacity who possesses one source of income alone. One of the main objects of the present Bill is accordingly to bring together all sources of an assessee's income for the purpose of determining the rate at which he shall be assessed on each part of it. This object is provided for by clause 14 and schedule I of the present Bill, which provide that the rate at which an assessee shall be assessed on all income which under the provisions of the Act is chargeable to tax (called taxable income) shall be determined by the total income, enjoyed by the assessee to which the Act applies.

3. A distinction is drawn by the provisions in chapter I and schedule I of the Bill between "total income" which determines the rate at which the tax is levied, and "taxable income" which determines the amount on which the tax is levied. The rate at which the tax is levied on an assessee will be determined by his total income accruing, arising or received in British India (or deemed to do so under the Bill) after omitting therefrom the receipts specified in clause 8 (2) and deducting the allowances mentioned in clauses 8, 9 (2), 10 (2), and 11 (2) of the Bill; and also omitting under clause 4 of the Bill, the expenses incurred in earning agricultural income, including any land revenue payment, and the first thousand rupees of net agricultural income. In calculating the amount on which the tax is levied these reductions will also be made: but an assessee will further be entitled to subtract from the residual amount—

- (i) Any salary which fulfils the conditions of clause 6 (1) (i) of the Bill.
- (ii) Any sums which he has spent on the purchase of an annuity or for similar insurance purposes, provided they fulfil the conditions laid down in clauses 6 (1) (ii) and 12 (2) of the Bill.
- (iii) Under the proviso to clause 7 of the Bill, any interest which he has received from a security of the Government of India issued or declared to be income-tax free.
- (iv) Under clause 12 (1) of the Bill any interest which he has received as a member of a company, or of a firm or undivided Hindu Family, where the tax has been paid, or is payable, by the company, firm, or family.
- (v) Agricultural income.

4. Of these items of abatement only that relating to agricultural income calls for any special comment.

As has already been explained in paragraph 1 above, the Bill is a Bill to improve the machinery of assessment, and to remove existing inequalities in the burdens which the tax lays on individual assessee except in so far as improved methods of assessment will result in a higher revenue, the Bill is not designed, either by altering the rates of the tax or otherwise, to raise money, and for this reason it retains the existing exemption from the tax of agricultural incomes. But with the present system of income tax graduation, under which an assessee's rate of assessment increases in accordance with his means, it is obviously equitable that in assessing the rate on which a person should pay on his non-agricultural income his income from agriculture should be taken into account: otherwise, a wealthy landlord possessed also of some non-agricultural income might pay on the latter at rates intended only for the poor. Accordingly, the Bill provides for the inclusion of net agricultural income in "total income": but as a concession, more particularly to persons of small means, clause 4 lays down that the first thousand rupees of net agricultural income shall not be taken into account in determining either the rate of the tax or the amount on which it will be levied.

5. The income determining the assessment, both as regards the rate and amount of the tax, will, under clause 14 of the Bill read with the definition of "year of assessment" in clause 2, be that actually accruing in the twelve months preceding the financial year for which the assessment is made, or at the assessee's option, any period of twelve months for which his accounts have been made up ending within the year preceding that financial year. Under the existing Act the tax chargeable on account of "salaries" and "interest on securities" is deducted at the time of payment of the salary or interest by the officer responsible for making the payment, and this procedure will be continued. But such deductions will, under clause 15 of the Bill, be treated merely as payments in advance on account of the assessment to be made in the following year; and, if it is found that any deduction has been effected at a rate which is not that applicable to the assessee's total income, an adjustment will be made at that assessment. In addition, the existing procedure for obtaining refunds of income-tax deducted from interest on securities is retained by clause 36 of the Bill.

6. Under the existing Act it is not incumbent on a Collector to obtain from any assessee a return of his income, and where the income is estimated at less than two thousand rupees, the assessee is not ordinarily served with a personal notice of assessment. The result is that many persons have no opportunity of representing the amount of their incomes before an ex-parte assessment has been made on them, and they have to seek recourse to a petition to the Collector, if they consider their assessment inequitable. Now that the rates of taxation have been enhanced, it is desirable, in the interests both of assesses and of Government, that Collectors should obtain returns of income in all cases before they make an assessment, and should also, if they doubt the correctness of any return, call such evidence as may be necessary to test it before coming to their decision. Clause 17 of the Bill accordingly provides for the service by the Collector of a notice on every person whom he proposes to assess to income tax, requiring him to furnish a return of his income; and clause 18 enables the Collector to call upon an assessee to produce evidence of the correctness of his return. In addition, clause 18 empowers the Collector to utilise any evidence bearing on the assessment which he may obtain of his own or from others, while under clauses 26 and 27 he can enforce the attendance of any person, including the assessee, for this purpose and compel the production of the information that he requires. Clause 21 requires personal notices of assessment to be sent to all assesses.

7. Assessments conducted in this manner should be made with much greater certitude than hitherto and it becomes unnecessary to retain the procedure, whereby a person objecting to his assessment by the Collector petitions the Collector against it: all evidence now produced before the Collector in objection proceedings will, under the provisions of the Bill, be available to him at the earlier stage when the assessment is being framed. A petition against an assessment finally made by the Collector will, therefore, under clause 22 of the Bill, lie only to the Commissioner, but such petitions will, subject to the conditions of that clause, be allowed universally and will not, as at present, be confined (subject to the Commissioner's discretion) to cases in which the tax assessed is Rs. 250 or upwards.

8. Section 31 of the existing Act, providing that an assessee may compound for the tax over a series of years, has been omitted. Compositions already made will not be affected, and Collectors will be empowered, either by rule or executive order, to make similar arrangements in future subject to such conditions as it may be thought fit to lay down.

9. Section 33 of the existing Act, providing in certain circumstances for amendment of assessment, has also been omitted. This section is no longer required, now that the tax is based in income actually accruing.

10. The Bill contains a number of other alterations in and additions to the present law: these are, where comment appears to be necessary, discussed in the Notes on Clauses, appended to this Statement.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

[Where sections are mentioned, the reference is to the Indian Income Tax Act (II of 1886).]

Clause 3 (2) (i).—Section 5 (1) (c) of the Act has been expanded to make it clear that income derived from property employed for religious or public charitable purposes is only exempt from income tax to the extent to which it is applied to those purposes, and also to make it clear that voluntary dedications are not exempt.

Clause 3 (2) (ii), (iii) and (iv).—These exemptions are already in force either by rule or practice.

Clause 3 (2) (vi).—Under this sub-clause, following the English practice, the recipient of a voluntary contribution or gift will not be liable to income tax on it, while the donor will not be permitted to claim an allowance on its account in calculating his total or taxable income.

Clause 6 (1).—The term "salaries" is, for the purposes of the Bill, confined by this clause to salaries, annuities, etc., from which income tax is deducted at the source. Salaries, etc., paid by private employers, who have not made arrangements with the Income Tax Collector for deducting the tax at the time of payment, will, therefore, be assessed under clause 11 as "income derived from other sources."

Clause 8.—Section 24 of the Act is expanded so as to apply to all house property, whether occupied by the owner or not, and the allowances which can be claimed are specifically stated, as in the past, there has been some diversity of practice in the matter. It will be observed that no allowance can be claimed on account of municipal taxes.

Clause 9 (2).—The allowances which can be claimed in computing profits are specifically stated to prevent the diversity of practice which has occurred in the past.

Clause 29.—This clause has been adopted from the English law and provides for the separate taxation of the independent income of married women.

Clause 32.—Much difficulty has been experienced in the past in adequately assessing the Indian profits of foreign non-resident companies or firms trading in India either through branches, or through subsidiary companies or firms, or through agencies. Sub-clause (2) of this clause, which follows the lines of the English law, vis., section 31 (3) of the Finance (No. 2) Act of 1915, is designed to meet the cases of these non-resident companies or firms, and it is proposed, when the Bill becomes law, to issue a rule under clause 43 (2) (d), which will enable them to be taxed on a percentage of their turnover, or on some proportion of their profits taken to represent the Indian profits, if their actual Indian profits cannot be ascertained in any other way.

Clause 52.—This clause has been adopted with necessary modifications from sections 57 and 59 of the Indian Stamp Act (II of 1899).

First GROUNDNUT Forecast, 1917-18.

This forecast is based upon reports received from the three provinces of Madras, Burma, and Bombay, which comprise 99 per cent of the entire groundnut area of British India.

The total area sown in the present season in these provinces is estimated at 1,771,000 acres, as against 2,109,000 acres estimated at this time last year, or a decrease of 16 per cent. The decrease, which occurs mainly in Madras, is attributed to the displacement of groundnut by cotton owing to a fall in the price of the former and the high price of the latter. The season, on the whole, has been favourable, and the condition of the crop is reported to be good.

Details for the provinces are given below :—

First forecast, October.

Provinces	1917-18	1916-17	Increase + or Decrease —
	Acres	Acres	Acres
Madras . . . . .	1,327,000	1,663,000	—336,000
Burma . . . . .	237,000	245,000	—8,000
Bombay (including Native States) . . . . .	207,000	201,000	+6,000
Total . . . . .	1,771,000	2,109,000	—338,000

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

Madras (76·2 per cent of the total area under groundnut in British India).—The total area sown up to 1st October is estimated at 1,327,000 acres, which is 20 per cent below the area reported at this time last year. The decrease has occurred mainly in the Deccan districts, where groundnut is being replaced by cotton and also in part by cereals, owing to the high price of cotton and the fall in the price of groundnut. The season, on the whole, has been favourable, although the sowing rains were late in places.

Burma (12·4 per cent of the total area under groundnut in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 237,000 acres, which is 3 per cent short of the area reported at this time last year. A large decrease in area has been reported from Pakokku owing to unfavourable early rains. Sagaing, Lower Chindwin, and Moiktila show smaller decreases than were at first expected. On the other hand, Thayetmyo, Magwe, and Myingyan return increased areas. The condition of the crop is reported to be satisfactory, except in some places where want of rain is affecting the plants.

Bombay (10·5 per cent of the total area under groundnut in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 207,000 acres (54,000 acres being in the Native States) as against 201,000 acres reported at this time last year, or an increase of 3 per cent. In Gujarat the crop has been newly introduced and is finding favour with cultivators. In the Deccan, where the crop is mainly grown, sowings were at first restricted owing to deficiency of early rains, but plentiful rains later on have induced larger sowings in Satara and made good the deficit, and the unirrigated as well as the irrigated crop is doing well. In the Karnatak the cultivation is about normal.

Chart.—The chart below shows the variations in the preliminary estimates as compared with those in the final figures of the last few years.

Second SUGARCANE Forecast, 1917-18

This forecast is based upon reports furnished by provinces, which contain, on an average, 99 per cent of the total area under Sugarcane in British India.

The area so far reported this year, amounts to 2,565,000 acres, as against 2,340,000 acres, the revised estimate at this time last year, or an increase of about 10 per cent. As compared with the final estimate (2,414,000 acres) last year, the present estimate shows an increase of 6 per cent.

Although the crop has been affected to a certain extent by heavy rain and floods in low-lying areas in parts of the United Provinces, the Punjab, and Bengal and by disease and insect pests in some of the eastern districts of the United Provinces, the present condition and prospects of the crop, on the whole, are reported to be good.

The detailed figures for the provinces are as follows :—

Second Forecast, October.

Total	2,565,000	2,340,000*	+ 225,000

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

United Provinces (54·2 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area planted was estimated in August last at 1,342,000 acres, as against 1,220,000 acres at the corresponding time last year, or an increase of 10 per cent. No modification has been made since the publication of the August forecast. The prospects of the cane crop are not so favourable as when the August forecast was issued. Heavy rain in the latter half of September accompanied by floods has done serious damage to the cane in low-lying areas. Injury from disease and insect pests is reported from a number of districts in the Gorakhpur and Benares divisions. The outturn in these districts is not expected to exceed 80 per cent of the normal. Over the rest of the provinces an outturn of 90 per cent of the normal is estimated.

Punjab (14·7 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The revised estimate of area planted up to the end of September is 448,000 acres, as against 358,000 acres estimated at the corresponding date of last year, or an increase of 25 per cent. The season so far is favourable for sugarcane, although in a few districts damage from floods to the crop on low lands is reported. The condition and the expected outturn of the standing crop are stated to be good.

Bihar and Orissa (10·9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area is now estimated at 263,000 acres, as against 277,000 acres reported in the final forecast of last year, or a decrease of 5 per cent. The weather conditions have generally been favourable so far, but some damage has been done by floods in Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, and Puri. The condition of the crop is reported to be generally good, and the average outturn for the province, as a whole, is estimated at 98 per cent of the normal. Three districts (Gaya, Saran, and Sambalpur) report more than a normal crop varying from 108 to 115 per cent; nine districts (Patna, Champaran, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Cuttack, Angul, Ranchi, Palaman, and Singhbhum) expect a normal crop; seven districts report crops between 92 and 96 per cent; while Shahabad and Monghyr report 83 and 77 per cent, respectively.

Bengal (9·2 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area planted is reported to be 208,000 acres as against 204,000 acres, the revised estimate of last year. Since the issue of the first forecast, the weather has been generally favourable in the important sugarcane growing districts of the province, but in other places there have been excessive rain and floods, which retarded the growth of the crop to some extent. On the whole, the season has been satisfactory. The average outturn for the province is estimated at 88 per cent of the normal, as against 80 per cent last year.

Madras (3·8 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area is estimated at 110,000 acres as against 96,000 acres, the revised estimate at this date last year, or an increase of about 15 per cent. The increase has occurred in all tracts and is attributed partly to the high price of jaggery at the planting season, and partly to the generally favourable season.

Bombay and Sind (2·6 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area planted is reported to be 105,000 acres (34,000 acres being in Native States), which is 10 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The increase is general, except in parts of Baroda, Kathiawar, Poona, and Dharwar, and is attributed partly to high prices fetched by the crop since the outbreak of war, and partly to an ample supply of water in wells, tanks, and canals at the planting season. The extension is particularly marked in the tract commanded by the Godavari Canal in the Ahmednagar and Nasik districts. The crop suffered to some extent in the Deccan owing to a prolonged break early in the season. But the late rains have been plentiful and the outlook is promising throughout the Presidency. The condition of the crop in Sind is fair.

Assam (1·5 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area planted is reported to be 34,000 acres, which is about 6 per cent below the area of last year. The decrease is attributed to deficient rain at the time of planting. The weather was favourable in August and September, and prospects of the crop are generally good.

North-West Frontier Province (1·3 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area sown up to the end of September is estimated at 30,000 acres, which is 6 per cent below the estimate made at this time last year. The condition of the standing crop is so far good and an average outturn may be expected.

Central Provinces and Berar (0.9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area planted is estimated at 25,000 acres, which is about 13 per cent above the estimate made at this time last year. The increase is partly due to favourable season at sowing time and partly to the rise in the price of gur. Seasonal conditions at sowing time were favourable, and germination was successful. Moderate to heavy showers were received during the months, June to September, which continued up to date of report (12th October). The rainfall was well distributed and adequate for agricultural operations. The crop is generally in a flourishing condition, and the average outturn is expected to be 115 per cent of the normal as against 113 per cent last year.

Chart.—The chart below shows the estimates of area now made as compared with the final figures of the preceding nine years.

Sugarcane Crop in Foreign Countries.—The latest information published by the Ministry of Agriculture, Cairo, is that in Egypt the weather is favourable for the cane crop and the water supply is sufficient. The attack of stalk borer persists in some places. The plants are healthy and growing vigorously, having been much benefited from the hot weather late in the month of July.

From unofficial sources it appears that in Cuba the weather has been favourable in the western provinces and the plants are growing in excellent condition. In Louisiana (United States of America) the condition of the cane crop is favourable. Rains have fallen, the weather is hot, and the canes are growing well. In Mauritius the crop is suffering through a persistent lack of rain. In Porto Rico the rainfall is reported to be generally sufficient for the cane crop.

Second SESAMUM FORECAST, 1917-18

This forecast is based upon reports received from eight provinces, which contain, on an average 77 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India. The returns in this forecast exclude estimates for the "mixed" crop of the United Provinces and for the late crop of Bengal. The Final Memorandum, which will be published in January, will include, as usual, returns for these crops.

The total area so far reported for the present season is 2,756,000 acres as against 3,138,000 acres (revised figure) at this time last year, or a decrease of 12 per cent. Details of the area by provinces are stated below:

Second Forecast, October

Provinces	1917-18	1916-17	Increase + or Decrease —
	acres	acres	acres
United Provinces (unmixed crop).	200,000	286,000	—86,000
Central Provinces and Berar.	580,000	839,000	—259,000
Madras	664,000	646,000	+18,000
Bombay (including Native States).	703,000	793,000	—90,000
Bengal (early crop)	172,000	(a) 171,000	+1,000
Bihar and Orissa	179,000	176,000	+3,000
Punjab	194,000	160,000	+34,000
Sind (including Native States).	41,000	39,000	+2,000
Ajmer-Merwara	23,000	28,000	—5,000
Total	2,756,000	3,138,000	—382,000

The present condition of the crop is reported to be, on the whole, from fair to good, except in parts of the United Provinces and Bombay where the crop has suffered seriously through heavy rain and storms.

United Provinces (24.7 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The area sown with the "unmixed" crop is estimated at 200,000 acres, as against 286,000 acres reported at the corresponding date of last year, or a decrease of 30 per cent. No estimate is available at present of the area sown with the "mixed" crop, which usually constitutes over two-thirds of the total area under sesamum in these provinces. Sowings were restricted owing to continuous and heavy rains. The rainfall in August and September was heavy throughout the principal sesamum growing districts. The crop suffered seriously from the heavy storm at the end of September, and the estimate of outturn in the Meerut, Agra, and Bundelkhand divisions varies from 40 to 50 per cent of the normal. Elsewhere it is estimated at 55 to 80 per cent.

Central Provinces and Berar (16.9 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The total area sown is now estimated at 580,000 acres, which is 31 per cent below the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. Moderate to heavy rain was received in June and July all over the province, and the rainfall was generally well distributed and sufficient for agricultural purposes. Conditions at sowing time were favourable except in parts of Damoh, Mandla, Seoni, Nimar, and Bilaspur, where sowings were somewhat retarded by continuous and excessive rainfall. Germination was generally successful, but some resowing was necessary in places. Excessive rainfall in August and September, which continued up to the date of report (12th October), damaged the crop to some extent almost throughout the province, and did not afford sufficient opportunities to cultivators to prepare land for sowing the late crop. This accounts for the shrinkage in area. Larger sowings of cotton also in some measure account for the contraction of area in the Nagpur and Berar districts. The average outturn for the province as a whole is estimated at 86 per cent of the normal, as against 99 per cent estimated at this time last year.

Madras (16.2 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The area sown up to 1st October is estimated at 664,000 acres, which is 3 per cent above the area reported at this time last year. There has been a considerable increase in the Carnatic, Central, and Southern districts, where sesamum is reported to have replaced groundnut to some extent. Late rainfall has caused a decrease in the Deccan. The condition of the crop is reported to be fair to good.

Bombay (5.5 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 703,000 acres (541,000 acres being in Native States), which is 11 per cent below the area reported at this time last year. In Gujarat incessant heavy rains prevented a full area being sown particularly with the late variety. The crop suffered more or less from continuous heavy rains and is expected to yield only a moderate outturn. In the Deccan cultivation was restricted owing partly to deficient sowing rains and partly to more attention being paid to cotton. The crop suffered at first from the prolonged break early in the season, but subsequent plentiful rains greatly improved it except in Khandesh, where there was excessive rain. The Karnatak crop also suffered from the deficiency of early rains, but has improved under the favourable late rains, and is in fairly good condition. In the Konkan the crop has generally done well, except in places where it has been affected by excessive rain. The crop is being harvested in Khandesh and in parts of the Konkan. Elsewhere it is in flower and in places in pod.

Bengal (5.1 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—No report is furnished by the province in October. The figure reported in the August forecast for the early crop was 172,000 acres as against 171,000 acres for the corresponding period of last year.

Bihar and Orissa (4.1 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The total area sown with both early and late crops is reported to be 179,000 acres, as against 176,000 acres at this date last year, or an increase of 2 per cent. Sowings of the late crop continued at the date of report in Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Angul, and Sambalpur. The weather conditions have been generally favourable for the crop except in parts of Orissa and South Bihar, where some damage has been done by excessive rain and floods, the average outturn for the province as a whole is estimated at 106 per cent of the normal as against 105 per cent estimated at this time last year.

Punjab (2.9 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The area sown up to the end of September is estimated at 194,000 acres, which is 21 per cent above the area reported at the corresponding date of last year, which was an underestimate. As compared with the actual area of last year, the present estimate shows a decrease of 21 per cent. The standing crop was damaged by excessive rain and floods in several districts, but the yield is expected to be normal and possibly a little better than the normal.

Sind (1.2 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The total area is estimated at 41,000 acres, which is 5 per cent above the area reported at this time last year. Deficient rain in Larkana and low inundation at the beginning in Nawabshah, Upper Sind Frontier, and the Khairpur State curtailed the area, while in other districts it was extended under favourable rains a good inundation. The crop is fair in Hyderabad and in the Khairpur State; elsewhere it is reported to be in good condition, except in Larkana, where it is poor in wet lands.

Ajmer-Merwara (0.3 per cent of the total area under sesamum in British India).—The total area placed under the crop is estimated at 23,000 acres (Ajmer 10,000 acres, Kekri 9,000 acres, and Merwara 4,000 acres) as compared with 28,000 acres reported at the corresponding date of last year. The crop is reported to have been considerably damaged by excessive rain.

Chart.—The chart below illustrates the variations in the second estimates of acreage in the last ten years as compared with those in the final figures. The second estimates, it should be remembered, exclude the "mixed" crop (sesamum grown in combination with other crops) of the United Provinces for which no estimate is made at this stage.

First RICE Forecast, 1917-18.

This forecast is based upon reports furnished by provinces, which contain about 99 per cent of the total area under rice in British India. The reports relate to conditions up to the 1st October.

The total area sown is reported to be 75,299,000 acres, as against 76,281,000 acres reported at this time last year, or a decrease of 1 per cent. As compared with the final estimate of last year (79,616,000* acres), the present estimate shows a decrease of 5.4 per cent. Detailed figures for the provinces are given below :—

First Forecast

Provinces	1917-18	1916-17	Increase + or Decrease —
	acres	acres	acres
Bengal (a)	20,748,000	21,129,000	—381,000
Bihar and Orissa (a)	15,595,000	16,217,000	—622,000
Madras	8,302,000	8,508,000	—206,000
Burma	10,695,000	10,458,000	+237,000
United Provinces (a)	7,174,000	7,228,000	—49,000
Central Provinces and Berar	5,123,000	5,069,000	+54,000
Assam (a)	4,331,000	4,182,000	+199,000
Bombay and Sind (including Native States)	3,331,000	3,545,000	—214,000
Total	75,299,000	76,281,000	—982,000

Lack of early rains interfered with the sowings and transplantation of winter rice in parts of Bengal and Madras; while excessive rain and floods damaged the seedlings and delayed transplanting operations in parts of Bihar and Orissa. Heavy rain and floods in August have to some extent adversely affected the autumn crop in parts of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, the United Provinces, and Sind. Otherwise the condition of the crop is generally reported to be good.

Bengal (26.6 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The area sown with autumn (aus) rice is reported to be 5,074,000 acres as against 5,232,000 acres estimated at this time last year and 5,048,000 acres, the final estimate of that year. In the Western Bengal districts, the weather conditions have been generally favourable, although some damage is reported to have been caused in places by the sudden rise of rivers, especially in the Howrah district. In the eastern and northern districts, on the other hand, conditions at sowing time were not generally favourable. Damage from excessive rainfall and floods is reported from parts of Malda, Faridpur, Chittagong, and Noakhali. Damage by drought in Dinajpur and Tippera is reported to amount to 40 per cent. The season, although not quite favourable, has been on the whole fair. For the province, as a whole, the average outturn is estimated at 87 per cent of the normal, as against 78 per cent estimated at this time last year.

(ii) The area under winter (aman) rice, which is the main crop, is estimated at 15,299,000 acres as against 15,492,000 acres estimated at the corresponding date of last year, or a decrease of 1 per cent, which is attributed to the weather being too dry in Northern and Eastern Bengal at the transplanting season, the contraction being most marked in Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, and Rangpur. Good rainfall was received in the beginning of the season, and conditions were favourable for sowings. Transplanting operations, although commenced at the usual time, were seriously interfered with in many districts, owing to lack of rain in August and the first half of September. Some of the Northern Bengal districts fared very badly in this respect, with the result that a restricted area was sown in these parts. In Eastern Bengal the shortage of water caused some anxiety regarding the deep-water paddy. The average outturn for the province, as a whole, is estimated at 96 per cent of the normal, as against 92 per cent estimated at this time last year.

(iii) An area of 375,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer (boro) rice, which is 7 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. The outturn was estimated at 90 per cent of the normal, which amounts to 167,000 tons as against 164,000 tons last year.

Bihar and Orissa (21 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The area under autumn rice is estimated at 3,792,000 acres, as against 3,655,000 acres reported at this time last year, or an increase of nearly 4 per cent, which is ascribed to favourable weather conditions at sowing time. The rainfall from May to July was generally above the normal throughout the province except in Darbhanga. Heavy rain and floods in the early part of August damaged the crop in the Patna division and also in parts of Monghyr, Hazaribagh, and Palamau. Some damage was also done in parts of Cuttuck and Puri by floods towards the end of August. On the basis of district reports, the average outturn is estimated at 95 per cent of the normal as against 88 per cent estimated at this time last year. The Director of Agriculture, however, remarks that the outturn appears to have been underestimated in some districts, e.g., Ranchi where the crop is much above the normal, and that the average outturn for the province will not fall far short of the normal except in the areas affected by floods.

(ii) The total area sown with winter rice is estimated at 11,764,000 acres as against 12,509,000 acres reported at this time last year, or a decrease of 6 per cent. It is, however, stated by the Provincial Director that further sowings have been made after the submission of district reports. Heavy rain and floods in the early part of August damaged the seedlings and delayed transplantation in parts of South Bihar. Some damage was also done in parts of Cuttuck by floods at the end of August. The rainfall in August was much below the normal in Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, and Purnea, where transplantation was retarded, but in September the rainfall was sufficient, which facilitated operations and benefited the standing crop. The average outturn is at present estimated at 99 per cent of the normal as against 95 per cent last year.

(iii) An area of 39,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer rice, which is 26 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. The outturn was estimated at 14,000 tons as against 18,000 tons last year.

Madras (13.9 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area sown up to the 1st October is estimated at 8,302,000 acres as against 8,508,000 acres reported at this time last year, or a decrease of 2 per cent. There is a considerable increase in the area in the Circars, but all other tracts show a decrease, which is attributed to the late receipt of rains and "freshes" in irrigation sources. There still remains a large area of main crop as well as second crop yet to be planted in the Carnatic and in the central and south districts. The condition of the crop is good in the Circars and generally fair to good elsewhere, except on the West Coast where the season has not been altogether favourable.

Burma (13.3 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area sown is estimated at 10,695,000 acres, as against 10,458,000 acres estimated at this time last year, or an increase of 2 per cent. Although rainfall in the early part of the season was somewhat scanty, it was ample later on, and the sowing commenced in most districts about the normal time. Floods in Toungoo, Maubin, Thaton, and Amherst destroyed considerable areas, but it was found possible to replant extensively. In Upper Burma lack of early rain somewhat delayed transplanting operations in most districts. Later rains were favourable, except in Shwabo and Yamethin where heavy rain caused flooding. The prospects of the crop are reported to be good throughout the province.

United Provinces (8 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The total area sown with autumn and winter rice is estimated at 7,150,000 acres as against 7,200,000 acres reported at this time last year, or a decrease of about 1 per cent. The rainfall throughout May was above normal, facilitating preparation of the ground, and by the end of June sufficient rain was received in almost all the rice growing districts. The rainfall in July was very favourable to the crop, but in August it was unevenly distributed, and at the end of that month the principal rice growing districts were in need of more rain. Heavy rain fell in the latter half of September, which was generally excessive for early (autumn) rice although beneficial for the late (winter) crop. The harvesting of early rice is now in progress, and the estimate of outturn varies from 80 to 95 per cent of the normal. This crop is reported to be inferior to that of last year, owing to deficiency of rain in parts of the provinces in August, and excessive rain towards harvest time. The prospects of late rice are more favourable.

(ii) In addition to the above, the estimates for hot weather rice are 24,000 acres and 11,400 tons as against 23,000 acres and 10,500 tons last year.

Central Provinces and Berar (6.4 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The total area sown with rice is estimated at 5,123,000 acres (32,000 acres being in Berar), which is 1 per cent larger than the corresponding estimate of last year. Moderate to heavy rain, which was received in the months, June to August, continued during September. The rainfall was generally well distributed and sufficient for agricultural operations. Climatic conditions at sowing time were favourable and germination was generally good. Transplantation was successful everywhere. Copious rainfall in Jubbulpore and Narsinghpur, and excessive rain and insects in Betul somewhat injured the crop in places. The broadcast rice on rich soils in Balaghat also suffered to some extent from defective root aeration. Otherwise the condition of the crop is generally satisfactory and prospects are favourable.

Assam (6 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—(i) The area sown with autumn rice is estimated at 831,000 acres, which is 7 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. The rainfall in April was about normal, except in the lower Assam Valley where it was exceptionally dry, in May it was much lighter, but in June it was much heavier than usual. Weather conditions were, on the whole, not very favourable at the beginning of the season, but the absence of floods subsequently was a considerable advantage. Only in two districts (Sibsagar and Goalpara) floods occurred and caused some damage. The average outturn for the province as a whole is estimated at 85 per cent of the normal, against 70 per cent at this time last year.

(ii) The area under winter rice is estimated at 3,250,000 acres as against 3,106,000 acres reported at this time last year, or an increase of nearly 5 per cent. The increase is shared by every district except Sylhet, where the same area was sown as last year. The season has been generally favourable, in spite of want of rain at the time of transplantation in some districts. The absence of heavy rain and consequently of floods in July and August improved the prospects of both broadcast and transplanted crops. The average outturn is provisionally estimated at 97 per cent of the normal, which works out to 1,340,000 tons, as against 1,314,000 tons estimated at this time last year.

(iii) An area of 250,000 acres was reported in March last to be under summer rice, this being the same as reported in the preceding year. The outturn was estimated at 96,000 tons as against 84,000 tons last year.

Bombay and Sind (3.7 per cent of the total area under rice in British India).—The area sown in the British districts is estimated at 2,691,000 acres (1,038,000 acres being in Sind), which is about 6 per cent below the corresponding estimate of last year. Native States report a total area of 640,000 acres (7,000 acres being in Sind) as against 697,000 acres at this time last year. The information is, however, still incomplete. Weather conditions at sowing time were favourable in the Presidency. Favourable rain in July helped transplantation in the Konkan, Gujarat, and west Deccan, and the crop is doing well almost everywhere except in Dharwar, where more rain is required for its proper development. In the Konkan the early crop is nearly ripe for harvest. In Sind low inundation curtailed the area. The crop is generally fair except in Larkana, where heavy rain in August and September caused flood and seriously damaged the crop.

Chart.—The chart below illustrates the variations in the preliminary estimates of area as compared with those in the final figures of the last ten years. It should, however, be borne in mind that the large increase during 1911-12 to 1913-14 was largely due to the addition of reporting tracts from year to year.

Rice crop in foreign countries.—From the latest information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, it appears that in Japan the area sown with rice in 1917 is estimated at 9,386,000 acres as against 7,540,000 acres last year. The estimate for the United States of America is 969,000 acres as against 866,000 acres in 1916. In Italy the area is estimated at 359,000 acres as against 356,000 acres last year. From the latest Bulletin published by the Ministry of Agriculture, Cairo, it appears that in Egypt the weather is favourable, although somewhat hot; the water supply is plentiful, and the crop has appreciably improved and is looking very well.

From unofficial sources it appears that the American rice crop is suffering from drought and, in spite of an increased acreage, the yield would be 20 per cent below that of last year.

FROM—THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM MAXWELL, K.C.I.E, M.A O, I.C.S.,
Director General of Posts and Telegraphs,

TO—THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,
DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

I have the honour to submit the Annual Report on the Posts and Telegraphs of India for the year 1916-17.

2. The administration was in the hands of Mr. C. H. Harrison up to the 29th May 1916, and in my charge for the rest of the year.

POSTS.—General Remarks.

General survey.

3. At the close of 1916-17 there were 96,260 postal officials, 19,409 post offices and 157,566 miles of mail lines. During the year 1,087 million articles, including 26½ million registered articles, were posted; stamps worth Rs. 3 crores 11 lakhs were sold for postal purposes; over 33 million money orders of the total value of Rs. 6 crores were issued; a sum of over Rs. 13½ crores was collected for tradesmen and others on value-payable articles; nearly 3½ million insured articles valued over Rs. 81 crores were handled; customs duty aggregating over Rs. 27 lakhs was realised on parcels and letters from abroad; pensions amounting to over Rs. 43½ lakhs were paid to Indian military pensioners; 16,873 lbs. of quinine were sold to the public. On the 31st March 1917 there were 1,647,419 Savings Bank accounts with a total balance of over Rs. 16½ crores and 26,519 Postal Life Insurance policies with an aggregate assurance of over Rs. 3 crores 71 lakhs. The total revenue and expenditure for the year, after making the various administrative adjustments, amounted to Rs. 4 crores 11 lakhs and Rs. 3 crores 54 lakhs, respectively.

Field Post Office work.

4. The number of postal officials serving with the various Expeditionary Forces out of India rose during the year from 787 to 1,087. The staff of every rank deserve great credit for the manner in which they performed their duties in spite of many difficulties.

In Mesopotamia especially the maintenance of a reasonably efficient service taxed the Post Office severely, but I am glad to record that in his despatch of the 10th April 1917 the Army Commander commended the work of this Department in these words:—

“The Postal Service has been handicapped by the long distances to be covered and by the fact that other articles requiring carriage claimed precedence in order of urgency. It has had heavy mails to deal with and its duties have been well carried out.”

In order to ensure the correct delivery of correspondence for troops sent to India from the different Overseas Forces the Post Office undertook in August 1916 to maintain on the Card Index System an up-to-date record of the movements of all officers and men invalided from the front. A Returned Letter Office was established at Bombay and at the present time about 97 per cent. of the correspondence received for invalids are redirected to the addressees. The actual figures for July 1917 were 111,751 letters received and 108,555 letters redirected.

The “Post and Telegraph Comforts Fund” under the direction of Mrs. Harrison continued to provide special comforts for the members of the staff. Government recognised Mrs. Harrison’s excellent work in this connection by the award to her of the Kaiser-i-Hind Medal.

Foreign Post.

5. The overland route via Marseilles was used for the conveyance of the letter mails, and the route via Gibraltar for the transmission of the parcel mails to and from the United Kingdom throughout the year.

The Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company’s mail steamer “Arabia,” which left Bombay on the 25th October 1916, was sunk in the Mediterranean by enemy action and none of the mails were saved.

In spite of the difficulties referred to in my previous report, the British India Steam Navigation Company provided regular services on the three most important lines, viz., the Calcutta-Rangoon (16 knots), Bombay-Karachi (15 knots) and Karachi-Basra (13 knots) and also on the Rangoon-Mergui line (10 knots). The Company also succeeded in carrying on seven other contract services though, of course, irregularly.

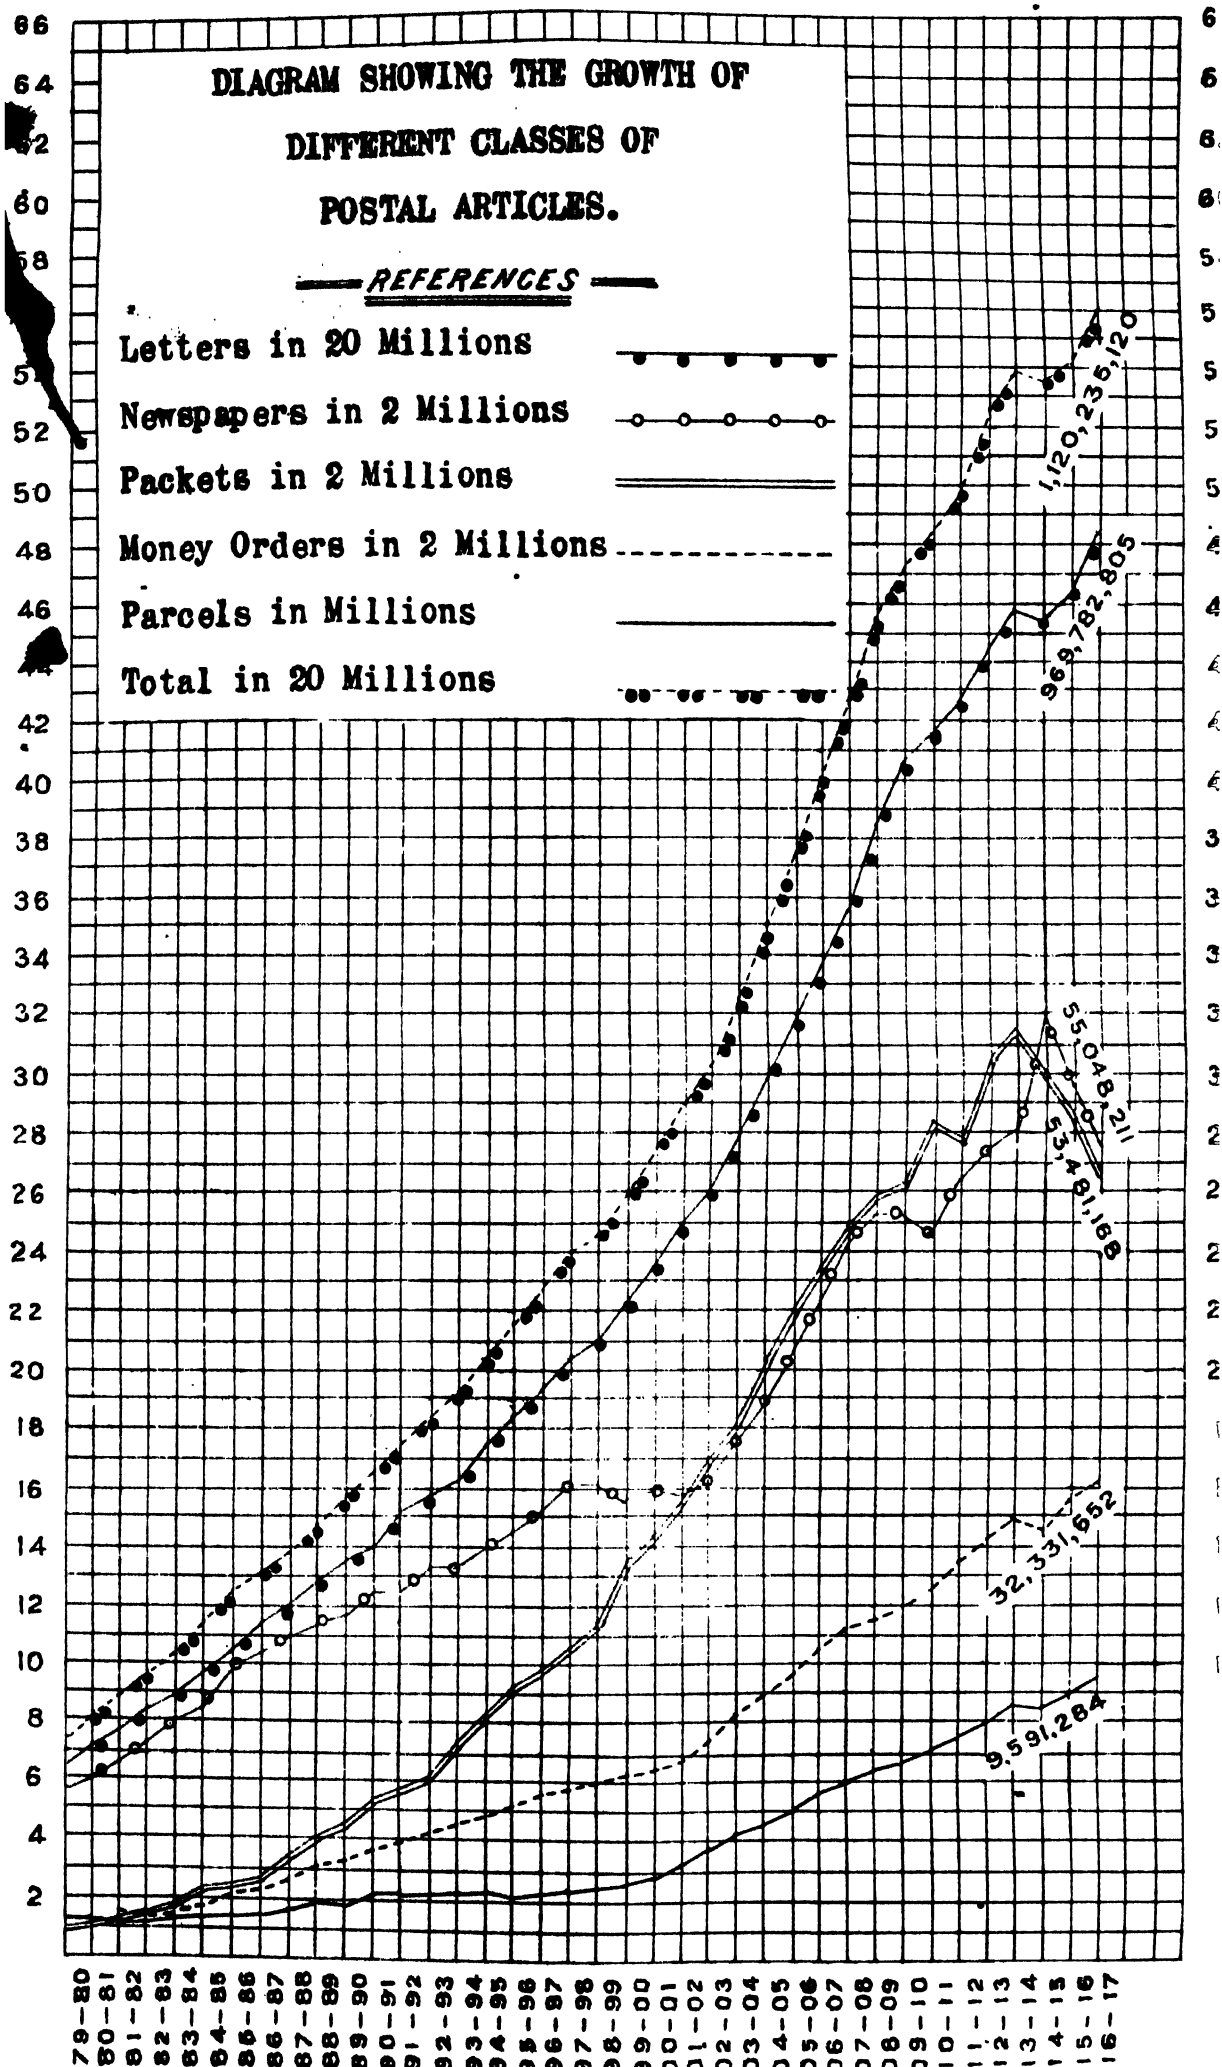

The aggregate amount that can be remitted by money order to the United States of America or Canada by a single individual to the same payee during a week was limited to £100.

The money order system was extended to the Philippine Islands and Ecuador.

Increases of pay.

6. Increases of pay were granted during the year to 2 deputy postmasters, 357 sub-postmasters, 113 branch postmasters, 209 clerks and sorters, 603 postmen and village postmen, 654 runners and 482 other inferior servants.

7. Though the strain imposed on them by the War was greater than in the previous year, the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company were able to maintain their mail service to and from India efficiently. Out of 105 due sailings 103 were accomplished, 51 mails being received in India and 52 despatched to the United Kingdom. Working of the
8. Contract

Post Offices and Postal Communications.

8. There were 19,409 post offices and 49,763 letter-boxes at the close of the year, or 81 post offices and 79 letter-boxes more than in the preceding year. The number of post offices in charge of school-masters and other extra-departmental agents practically remained unaltered. Post offices, lett boxes and villag postmen.
(Appendix I, p
21.)

9. The total length of all mail lines by road, rail, river or sea was 157,566 miles, as detailed below:— Postal commun ications.
(Appendix I, p
21.)

	Runners.	Railway.	Mail carts, horses, camels, etc.	Steamers.	Motor cars.

Increase (+) or decrease (—) . . .	+1,072	+347	+161	—1,826	+155

The marked decrease in the steamer mileage was due mainly to the temporary discontinuance of the subsidiary services between Bombay and the ports on the Persian Gulf. The figure 741 represents an annual travel of about seven hundred thousand miles by motor car.

Postal Articles and Postage Stamps.

10. The total number of postal articles of all kinds, excluding money orders, transmitted during the year is estimated at 1,087 millions, being 36 millions more than in the preceding year, as detailed below:— Statistics of po articles.
(Appendix II,

The diagram on the adjoining leaf shows graphically the growth of postal traffic in its principal branches since 1879-80.

11. It is computed that out of the total of 1,121 million articles and money orders which were posted 99·78 per cent. were actually delivered or paid, as compared with 99·78 per cent. out of a total of 1,083 millions in the preceding year. Delivery work.

Work of Dead Letter

12. The following details show the work done by Dead Letter Offices :—

In Bengal, Madras and Bombay alone 156 articles without address, many containing money or valuables, were posted every day on an average. In articles opened by the five larger Dead Letter Offices, cheques, hundis, currency notes, bills of exchange, coins and other property of the nominal value of over 11 lakhs of rupees were found, and the great majority of these were successfully redirected to the addressees or the senders.

Foreign correspondence.

13. For the reasons stated in my previous report, statistics of correspondence sent to and received from foreign countries during the year were not kept.

Foreign parcels.

14. In addition to postage stamps, non-judicial and court-fee stamps are sold in many post offices but, except in Burma, postmasters act as private vendors of these stamps which do not form part of the Post Office balance. In Burma, where such stamps are kept by postmasters in the same way as postage stamps, the sales during the year amounted to Rs. 91,666 as against Rs. 90,955 in 1915-16.

Miscellaneous Post Office Matters.

Office Guarant-Fund.
Appendix VI,

27. There was a deficit of Rs. 50,307 this year in the accounts of the Guarantee Fund owing to an unusual charge of Rs. 58,773 for converting 3½ per cent. Government Promissory Notes into the 4 per cent. Conversion Loan of 1916-17. The ordinary receipts and disbursements were, however, normal. The amount decreed against the Fund was Rs. 12,321 as compared with Rs. 15,099 in the previous year. A sum of Rs. 13,453 was paid in compassionate gratuities to deserving postal officials and their families as compared with Rs. 3,729 in 1915-16.

The balance of the Fund was Rs. 10,75,580.

28. The number of complaints made by the public was 81,531 as against 72,929 in 1915-16. Of the total number 36 per cent. were found to be justified as compared with 38 per cent. in 1915-16, while 37,671 or 46 per cent. proved to be groundless. In the remaining cases either no definite conclusion could be arrived at or the investigation had not been completed by the end of the year.

Complaints by the public.

29. Compensation amounting to Rs. 2,409 was paid during the year in respect of inland uninsured registered letters, packets and parcels lost or damaged in course of transmission by post.

Compensation for uninsured registered articles.

30. The number of postal officials dealt with for criminal offences was 485, of whom 253 were convicted in Court and the remainder punished departmentally as against 491 offenders and 288 convictions in the preceding year. The defalcations and losses amounted to Rs. 47,738 as compared with Rs. 93,288 in 1915-16. By the end of the year adjustments had been effected to the extent of Rs. 33,406, of which only Rs. 4,784 was written off.

Offences by postal officials. (Appendix VII, page 30.)

31. The offences against the Post Office committed by persons not belonging to the Department included 26 cases of money order fraud involving a sum of Rs. 5,765 and two cases of fraudulent withdrawal from the Savings Bank of sums amounting to Rs. 1,499. There were 121 cases of theft of Government money from mails and post offices, in addition to highway robberies which are dealt with in the next paragraph. The total amount stolen was Rs. 23,769, of which Rs. 7,008 was recovered and Rs. 4,357 written off as finally lost, Rs. 12,401 remaining unadjusted at the close of the year.

Offences by other persons.

32. There were 27 cases of highway robbery, three of which were attended with murder.

Highway robberies of mails.

A runner carrying mails from Bhawanipatna to Balangir in the Patna Native State in Orissa was hacked to pieces. The mail bags, from one of which a cash bag containing Rs. 25 had been extracted, were found beside his body. Of the five men who were prosecuted three were sentenced to transportation for life and two to rigorous imprisonment for ten years.

A postman at Benares was murdered while on his beat. Five men were charged but only one was convicted and he was sentenced to death. An extraordinary pension of Rs. 3 a month was granted to the widow of the deceased postman.

There were six cases of raids on mails in the districts of Loralai and Chagai and the Native State of Kalat (Baluchistan Agency).

Of the total number of attacks 25 occurred in British Territory and two in Native States. The mail was entirely recovered in five and partly in 20 cases, the loss to Government up to the close of the year amounting to Rs. 4,194. Prosecutions were instituted in seven cases and convictions were obtained in all of them.

33. A mail guard and a mail ekka driver were drowned—the former on board a mail steamer which sank during a storm and the latter while attempting to cross a river in flood. A sub-postmaster was shot dead by robbers who raided a post office in Baluchistan. Of other postal servants who met their death on duty one was bitten by a snake, another died from the effects of a carriage accident and a third was buried under a landslip caused by an earthquake.

Post Office staff.

34. On the 31st March 1917 the total number of postal officials was 96,260 as compared with 95,746 at the close of 1915-16. The figure includes 294 pensioned soldiers of the Indian Army and 112 women, of whom 98 were Europeans or Eurasians.

The number of officials dismissed was 498 as against 518 in the previous and of this number 229 were postmen or village postmen.

Buildings.

35. The most important building completed during the year was the Administrative Office at Nagpur—a very fine structure—and among other projects finished were the post offices at Namkhana, Motihari, Shikarpur, Akyab, Prome, Insein, Maubin, Kamayut and Sanawar and the telegraph offices at Benares Cantonment and Bangalore. The office and residence of the Superintendent of post offices, Raipur, was also completed.

Financial results of working the posts in Kashmir.

36. The revenue obtained from post offices situated in the Kashmir and Jammu State was Rs. 2,69,115 as compared with Rs. 2,47,919 in 1915-16 and Rs. 2,40,773 in 1914-15, while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 2,86,054 as against Rs. 2,80,124 in 1915-16 and Rs. 2,59,689 in 1914-15, the actual deficit during the year being Rs. 16,939. The growth in expenditure was chiefly owing to increases in the cost of establishment.

Non-postal Branches of the Post Office.

Post Office Insurance Fund.
[Appendices VIII (a), VIII (b) and IX, pages 31 to 33.]

37. There were 1,739 new Life Insurance and Endowment Assurance policies of the aggregate value of Rs. 25,43,685 as against 1,676 for Rs. 20,86,352 in 1915-16. The number taken by pure Asiatics was 1,638 and two were obtained by women. Of the policies held by women one was surrendered during the year, and there are now 30 female policy holders in all.

Three new contracts for monthly allowances were entered into, the amount secured being Rs. 35-15-0.

Three Life Annuities were also purchased from the Post Office under Article 807 of the Civil Service Regulations.

The total sum realised on account of premia on old and new policies taken together amounted to Rs. 14,64,978 as compared with Rs. 14,40,355, representing the revised figure for the previous year. Claims to the extent of Rs. 8,96,850 were discharged as compared with Rs. 9,43,312 in 1915-16, while 604 policies for a gross sum of Rs. 6,04,134 lapsed or were surrendered or cancelled.

Receipt of salt revenue.

38. The Post Office acted as an agent for the receipt of salt revenue at certain selected offices in the Punjab and North-West Frontier, United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, Bengal and Assam, and Central Circles. As shown by the following figures there was a marked decrease in this class of business:—

					1916-17.	1915-16.

39. The Post Office obtained 16,873 lbs. of quinine for sale to the public during the year under report as compared with 16,136 lbs. in the preceding year. Sale of quinine.

40. The number of men of the Indian Army whose pensions were paid through the agency of the Post Office in the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province was 65,670 as compared with 54,965 in 1915-16, the amount disbursed being Rs. 43,55,347 as against Rs. 34,78,496 in the previous year. The Post Office received Rs. 32,665 as commission for this special service. Payment of Indian military pension

Financial Results of the Post Office.

41. The Post Office accounts show the following results :—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Surplus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1915-16 .. ..	3,67,63,238	3,16,53,791	51,09,447
1916-17 .. ..	3,93,37,391	3,17,21,057	76,16,334

After allowing for the sum of Rs. 9,26,449 charged against the Post Office in the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India and after making the usual adjustments, notably in connection with free services rendered by or to the Department, the net surplus was Rs. 56,39,292 as compared with Rs. 32,11,264 for the previous year. This amount is exclusive of any credit for the maintenance of unremunerative post offices and lines required for military or political purposes.

TELEGRAPHS—General Remarks.

42. At the close of the year under review the total number of telegraph officials was 10,931 of whom 151 were women. The number of telegraph offices was 10,740 of which 8,911 were open to the public. The latter comprised 194 departmental offices, 3,332 combined post and telegraph offices, 5,361 railway and 24 canal offices. General survey.

During the year 19,297,692 telegrams were transmitted over the lines of the Department, an increase of 1,167,944 over 1915-16.

The total number of signalling operations entailed in the transmission of all telegrams from the office of origin to the office of destination was 92,315,117, with an average of 4.78 operations per telegram as against 4.98 for 1915-16.

Owing to the need for conserving stocks, the construction of lines was necessarily curtailed and was practically confined to meeting urgent military and political requirements. The telegraph system was extended by 1,413 miles of line and 5,767 miles of wire and cable conductors, and consisted on the 31st March 1917 of 87,480 miles of line and cable and 343,487 miles of wire and cable conductors.

The number of instruments of all kinds rented from the Department was 32,588, of which 7,126 were in use on railways, 1,573 on canals and 23,889 on private lines.

The total receipts of the Telegraph Department amounted to Rs. 2 crores 8 lakhs and the working charges to Rs. 1 crore 37 lakhs as against Rs. 1 crore 86 lakhs and Rs. 1 crore 42 lakhs, respectively, for the previous year.

The chief items of revenue were :—

	Rs.
Fees on telegrams .. .. .	1,54,55,000
Claims from railways and canals .. .. .	30,20,000
Claims from guarantors .. .. .	1,03,000
Rent from telephone connections .. .. .	11,00,000
Royalties from telephone companies .. .. .	1,22,000

Statistics maintained by 74 of the principal offices showed that 30 per cent. of the telegrams handed in were transmitted within 10 minutes of acceptance and 48 per cent. within 20 minutes, also 65 per cent. of the telegrams received for delivery were sent out to the addressees within 10 minutes of receipt.

43. With effect from the 1st April 1916 a reduction of five annas a word was made in the rate for state telegrams exchanged between India and Mesopotamia, and from the same date reductions varying from two to four annas a word were made in the rates for state telegrams between India on the one side and Persia and Persian Gulf on the other.

On the 1st February 1917 deferred foreign telegram between India and Mesopotamia at half the ordinary rates.

From the 1st September 1916 a telegraphic money order service was introduced between India on the one side and Mesopotamia and the Persian Gulf on the other. The telegraph charges for these advices are the same as for private telegrams.

With effect from the 1st December 1916 the unit charge for ordinary inland telegrams was raised from six annas to eight annas for 12 words or less, the charge for every additional word remaining at half an anna. The actual effect of the change was obscured by the decrease in telegraph business caused by the falling off in trade from about the same date, and it is not yet possible to judge whether the increase in rates has caused any appreciable reduction in the number of ordinary inland messages. At the end of the year the increase in the unit charge had resulted in a very small increase in the percentage of private telegrams containing not more than 12 words, with a corresponding decrease in the percentage of telegrams containing more than 12 words, and a slight reduction in the average number of chargeable words.

Certificates in telegraphy were granted to 67 soldiers and 560 post office clerks.

The Co-operative Credit Societies at various Central Telegraph offices have all done very good work. A Junior Co-operative Society which has been started at Bombay for the benefit of the delivery peons and line staff has made satisfactory progress.

A sum of Rs. 1,26,357 was disbursed to the members of the signalling establishment as overtime allowance for the disposal of work outside the ordinary hours of duty as compared with Rs. 60,864 in the preceding year. The increase was due partly to the growth in the total traffic, but mainly to the preponderance of lengthy state telegrams and to the replacement of the skilled telegraphists deputed on field service by less highly trained and experienced operators.

A sum of Rs. 1,87,255 was earned by telegraphists as "pie-money" or remuneration for messages disposed of in excess of certain standards, the corresponding amount for 1915-16 being Rs. 1,55,156.

The large amount of additional work imposed by the war on the Telegraph Branch of the Department continued throughout the year under review in nearly every section of the Branch.

The number of telegraph officials on field service in Mesopotamia and East Africa at the end of the year was 2,498, as detailed below—

Superior officers .. .. .	13
Deputy superintendents, telegraph masters, inspecting telegraphists, civil and military telegraphists, clerks and telephone operators ..	482
Sub-inspectors, linemen and workmen .. .. .	2,003

The total value of telegraph stores issued departmentally in connection with the various Expeditionary Forces was Rs. 13,60,899 while stores worth Rs. 7,24,783 were issued direct to the Military Authorities and the Indo-European Telegraph Department. The telegraph staff of all grades continued to carry out their duties satisfactorily both in the field and in India.

Inland Telegrams.

44. The inland telegrams show an increase over the preceding year of 927,343 or about 6 per cent. in number and of Rs. 14,59,056 or about 14 per cent. in value. The disproportionate increase in value is due partly to the enhancement of the unit charge for ordinary telegrams and partly to the large number of lengthy state messages necessitated by military operations. Inland telegrams.
[Appendix XIV (1),

State telegrams rose by about 25 per cent. in number and by about 11 per cent. in value.

Private telegrams increased by 7 per cent. in number and by 16 per cent. in value. The increase in number was confined to the first eight months of the year and there was an actual decrease in the total number of private telegrams of all classes during the concluding four months. This decline, though caused partly by the raising of the charge for ordinary telegrams, was due mainly to the slackening of trade which set in about the end of December 1916.

Press telegrams decreased by 20 per cent. in number and 19 per cent. in value. The diminution of this class of traffic was effected mainly by the circulation of casualty lists by post and by the reduction of the number of Government officials authorised to receive Reuter's summary and Indian News Agency telegrams.

The average value of a state telegram was Rs. 1.498 as compared with Rs. 1.346 in the previous year; of a private telegram Re. 0.611 as against Re. 0.566 in 1915-16; and of a press telegram Re. 0.795 in 1916-17 and Re. 0.778 in 1915-16.

45. The total number of inland telegraphic money orders was 922,759 yielding telegraph revenue to the amount of Rs. 4,48,114 as against 880,843 and Rs. 4,04,033, respectively, in the previous year. Inland telegraphic money orders.
page 43.]

46. The total number of combined post and telegraph offices open on the 31st March 1917 was 3,332 with a staff of 4,724 signallers as against 3,288 offices and 4,833 signallers at the close of the preceding year. The net increase in the number of combined offices was 44 as compared with 89 in the previous year. Combined post & telegraph offices.

Excluding free messages the number of telegrams sent from combined offices increased from 10,619,964 to 11,188,649 or by 5 per cent. The revenue rose from Rs. 59,34,410 to Rs. 65,05,568, or by 9 per cent., while the working charges were Rs. 16,18,552 as compared with Rs. 15,66,609 representing the revised figure for the previous year. The number of telegrams delivered by these offices was 9,241,692 as against 8,923,733 during 1915-16.

Postal receiving offices.

47. In addition to the messages sent and received from combined post and telegraph offices, 73,721 telegrams were accepted by other post offices for transmission post to telegraph offices and the revenue realised on them was Rs. 41,328. The corresponding figures for 1915-16 were 79,011 and Rs. 41,444.

The total number of telegrams received at post offices in the Persian Gulf for the Indo-European Telegraph Department was 180 as against 495 during the foregoing year, and the fees realised on them amounted to Rs. 884 as compared with Rs. 6,678 in 1915-16.

Foreign Telegrams.

Foreign telegrams
generally.
[Appendix XIV (3),

48. The total number of foreign telegrams dealt with during 1915-16 was 25,838,649 containing 1,715,185 words as against 19,167,171 containing 1,171,185 words in 1915-16, the increase being 17 per cent. in the number of telegrams and 17 per cent. in the number of words. The total value was Rs. 34,36,794 as against Rs. 30,51,171 in the previous year, an increase of 12 per cent.

State foreign telegrams showed an improvement of 35 per cent. in number and 17 per cent. in words, but a falling off of 8 per cent. in value. This decline was due to the reductions in rates referred to in paragraph 43 of this report. The Bombay Office of the Eastern Telegraph Company, Ltd., rendered invaluable assistance in the disposal of the large number of state telegrams to and from Mesopotamia via India, and this Department is greatly indebted to Mr. H. A. Lynn Robinson, the Company's General Superintendent at Bombay, for his ready help and advice not only in connection with this traffic but on all occasions.

Private foreign telegrams paid at full rates diminished by 7 per cent. in number, 4 per cent. in words and 62 per cent. in value owing mainly to the more extensive use of messages of the deferred class.

Private foreign telegrams at deferred (half) rates advanced by 136 per cent. in number, 143 per cent. in words and 154 per cent. in value. The abnormal increase is chiefly due to the freer use of this cheaper class of telegrams on account of the prohibition of code language.

Week-end telegrams at one-fourth rates exchanged with soldiers, sailors and nurses serving with the Allied Forces rose by 239 per cent. in number, 232 per cent. in words and 208 per cent. in value.

Press foreign telegrams expanded by 25 per cent. in number, 15 per cent. in words and 7 per cent. in value.

Telegrams exchanged with Ceylon.

49. The total number of telegrams originating in India for delivery in Ceylon and vice versa was 252,089, an increase of 3 per cent. over the preceding year.

Telegraphic money order advices exchanged with Ceylon,
Mesopotamia and the Persian Gulf.

50. The number of telegraphic money order advices exchanged with Ceylon was 44,058 as against 42,661 in the previous year, an increase of 3 per cent.

There were 45 telegraphic money order advices exchanged with Mesopotamia and the Persian Gulf during the period from the 1st September 1916 to the 31st March 1917.

Interruptions of telegraphic communication with foreign countries.

51. There was no total interruption of cable communication with Europe via Suez during the year. The routes to Europe via Teheran and via Turkey have remained interrupted since the 31st July 1914 and 2nd November 1914, respectively.

The route to China via Bhamo was totally interrupted from the 31st January to the 19th July 1916, and subsequently for 199 hours beyond India and 69 hours within India. During 1915-16 this route was interrupted beyond India for 69 hours and for 47 hours within India.

Direct communication with Australia via Madras was maintained throughout the year except on three days in February when there were interruptions on the Singapore-
Working of wireless stations.

Rs. 7,24,783

Wireless Telegraphy.

Telegraph Stations in India worked satisfactorily except during periods when their duties were renewed, the work being carried out without any interruption or communication.

Telephones.

53. The expansion of the telephone system was not as great as would have been the case in normal times. In the latter part of the year it was necessary to impose restrictions on the supply of new connections, only such as were required for military or political purposes being allowed.

New public exchanges were opened at Waltair and Barrackpore, and the latter was connected to the Calcutta exchange by six trunks, thus meeting a long-felt want.

The Automatic Telephone system at Simla continued to give satisfaction and at one time during the season every available number on the switchboard was in use. As the extra hundred-line extension panel ordered last year did not arrive, a hundred-line Central Battery switchboard had to be installed to permit of new Government connections being established.

The overhead telephone wires in Bankipore were replaced by underground cables and the exchange formerly located in the old telegraph office was shifted to the new post and telegraph office in the New Capital.

The Calcutta Magneto Exchange was converted to a Central Battery system on the 15th September 1916 and a much prompter and more efficient service has resulted.

A considerable improvement was effected in the departmental telephone system at Bombay. A new exchange room was fitted up with two hundred-line switchboards and the heavier sections of line were replaced by aerial cable.

The Tavoy telephone system was extended, reconstructed and refitted during the year to meet the requirements of the wolfram mining operations.

The Indore telephone exchange was also refitted during the year.

54. The gross rental of all telephones provided by this Department, excluding those supplied to railways and canals, was Rs. 10,56,625 in 1916 as against Rs. 9,75,963 for the preceding year. There are now 226 telephone exchanges owned and maintained by Government, of which 56 are operated by this Department, and the number of connections at the end of 1916 was 6,511 as against 224 exchanges with 5,890 connections on the 31st December 1915. There were also 1,111 offices connected to independent non-exchange circuits as compared with 1,107 in the previous year. The number of operators employed in the exchanges worked by the Department was 302.

Telephone exchanges established by companies.

55. At the end of 1916 the number of exchanges established by licensed telephone companies was 13 with 12,894 connections as compared with 13 exchanges and 10,766 connections at the close of the preceding year. The rental of these systems rose from Rs. 19,53,78 to Rs. 23,68,685. The restrictions referred to in paragraph 53 apply also to these systems and may adversely affect their extension during 1917.

Construction and Maintenance.

Line construction and maintenance.

56. Two copper wires for train control purposes were laid on the Indian Railway between Naini and Sutna.

Three cables were laid across the Koladyne, Irrawaddy and Salween rivers respectively, in Burma.

Cyclones of exceptional severity visited Bengal in September and Madras in November. The telegraph lines were extensively damaged on both occasions but communication was promptly restored.

Fitting and refitting of offices.

57. The refitting of the Lahore office and the first fitting of the new Central Telegraph office at Rangoon were in progress at the end of the year.

The telegraph offices at Benares City, Bangalore, Cuttack, Darjeeling, Imphal, Kharagpur, Ranchi and Saidpur were also refitted during the year.

Telegraph Stores and Workshops.

Telegraph Stores.

58. The value of the stock at the beginning of the year was Rs. 44,51,558, and stores to the value of Rs. 44,28,097 were received of which Rs. 17,15,462 represented the value of those imported from England ready for issue, Rs. 12,21,255 the value of articles transferred from the Workshops and Rs. 3,54,142 the cost of stores purchased in India. The issues during the year amounted to Rs. 47,00,729 of which Rs. 15,36,347 represented transfers to other Government Departments and sales to the public. The value of the stock in hand on the 31st March 1917 was Rs. 41,78,926.

Telegraph Workshops.

59. The Telegraph Workshops were very active throughout the year. The value of the outturn was Rs. 15,05,000 as compared with Rs. 14,73,000 representing the figure for 1915-16 which had not previously been attained.

The output of iron castings declined from 2,400 tons in 1915-16 to 1,500 tons in 1916-17 and the manufacture of galvanized steel tubes for telegraph poles from 126,000 to 75,200 owing to reduced demands.

Fifty-two masts varying in height from 55' to 254' were made during the year.

A new type of mast on original lines much cheaper than, and having other important advantages over, the existing type was designed in the Workshops and standardised during the year.

The instrument branch continued to work under heavy pressure throughout the year and 7,813 of the principal instruments were made. Large numbers were manufactured for the Army Department and among them were 1,564 field service telephones.

The number of instruments repaired increased from 13,098 in 1915-16 to 661 in 1916-17.

By working night and day the instrument machine shops were able to turn, in addition to the instrument parts required, very considerable quantities of munitions.

The value of raw materials and stores consumed for these purposes was Rs. 2,500. Rs. 3,85,000 on account of local purchase.

Another traveller to the foundry furnaces was erected in a somewhat novel way of handling foundry materials and proved economical.

Results of the Telegraph Department.

60. The results for the last three years show the following results:—

Financial position of the Telegraph Department.
(Appendix XVII, page 47.)

	Receipts.	Revenue charges.	Surplus.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1914-15 .. .. .	1,70,59,934	1,40,66,947	29,92,987
1915-16* .. .. .	1,85,78,406	1,42,20,653	43,57,753
1916-17 .. .. .	2,07,82,482	1,36,74,010	71,08,472

*Revised figures.

Revenue charges include gratuities, leave allowances paid out of India and the average capitalised value of pensions paid to telegraph officials, while the receipts include the pro forma value of news-free and concessional traffic. No credit is, however, taken for the services rendered by the Department in the care and maintenance of large quantities of mobilisation telegraph stores which are kept at the disposal of the military authorities at various centres; nor is any allowance made for the very heavy expenditure, both initial and recurring, that has been incurred in connection with the erection and upkeep of the various wireless stations for which there is practically no monetary return.

The capital account of the Department was increased by Rs. 30,14,201 during 1916-17 and amounted to Rs. 13,03,14,359 at the end of the year.

PERSONAL MATTERS.

61. The following officials of the Post Office and Telegraph Department have been mentioned in despatches for meritorious service in the field, in addition to those whose names were shown in the Annual Report for 1915-16:—

No. 1896.—The following Resolutions passed by both Houses of Parliament on 29th October 1917, and ordered to be communicated to all officers and men, are published :—

“That the thanks of this House be given to the officers, petty officers and men of the Navy for their faithful watch upon the seas during more than three years of ceaseless danger and stress while guarding our shores and protecting from the attacks of a barbarous foe the commerce upon which the victory of the Allied cause depends.

That the thanks of this House be given to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the British Armies in the field, and also to the women in the medical and other services auxiliary thereto, for their unfailing courage and endurance in defending the right amid sufferings and hardships unparalleled in the history of war and for their loyal readiness to continue the work to which they have set their hands till the liberty of the world is secure.

That the thanks of this House be accorded to the gallant troops from the Dominions overseas, from India, and from the Crown Colonies who have travelled many thousands of miles to share with their comrades from the British Isles in the sacrifices and triumphs of the battlefield and to take their full part in the struggle for human freedom.

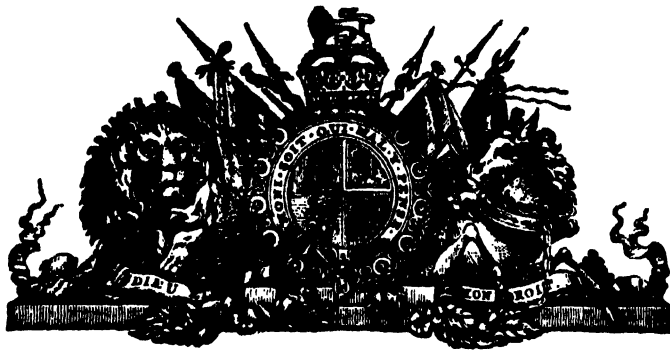

That the thanks of this House be accorded to the officers and men of the Mercantile Marine for the devotion to duty with which they have continued to carry the vital supplies to the Allies through seas infested with deadly peril.

That this House doth acknowledge with grateful admiration the valour and devotion of those who have offered their lives in the service of their country and tenders its sympathy to their relatives and friends in the sorrows they have sustained.”

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 3rd November 1917.

Burma.—During the week light to moderate rain was general throughout the Province in two districts. In two districts the fall exceeded three inches and in three it exceeded four inches. In Upper Burma agricultural operations for cultivation of peas and other miscellaneous crops are proceeding normally. Plucking of cotton and gathering of groundnuts continue. Standing crops are good. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly to Rs. 81 per hundred baskets but is still considerably below normal. The market for white rice is steady at Rs. 197 anhas 8 for specials.

Assam.—The weather was reasonable. Recent rain has been beneficial to standing crops in almost all the districts. Harvesting of autumn rice and jute is finished. Manufacture of tea and sowing of mustard continue. Prospects of standing crops on the whole are good. Cattle disease is reported from two districts. Price of common rice continues to fall.

Bengal.—During the beginning of the week heavy rain accompanied by high wind was almost general throughout the Province. Winter paddy and spring crops already sown have suffered somewhat. The weather became favourable during the latter part of the week. The condition of standing crops is reported to be satisfactory on the whole. Sowing of spring crops continues. Heavy rain early in the week hampered sowing in places. Cattle disease exists in seven districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has fallen by 0·9 per cent. compared with that of the preceding week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Rainfall was fairly general over the Province, the fall being heavy in parts of the Santal Parganas, Cuttack, Balasore and Puri, and light to moderate in the rest of the Province. Sowing of spring crops is in progress. Standing crops are doing well, but some damage has been done to paddy by the recent heavy rain in parts of Cuttack, Balasore, Puri, Ranchi, Singhbhum and the Santal Parganas. The price of common rice has fallen in six districts, risen in five and remained stationary in the remaining districts. The supply of fodder and water is generally sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—During the week light rain fell in parts of the Province. Autumn harvesting, cotton picking, spring sowing and preparation of land for spring crops continue. Standing crops and sugarcane are flourishing. Prospects are good. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Cattle disease is decreasing. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are full. Prices are tending to rise.

Punjab.—The weather was dry. Standing autumn crops are average to good in the west, generally bad in the south-east and below average to average elsewhere. Sugarcane is doing well. Cotton is being picked and maize and rice are being reaped. The yield of cotton is generally below normal, that of rice is good and of other crops is below normal to normal. Sowings of spring crops continue and are above normal in the south-east and normal elsewhere. Germination is good. Cattle are healthy. Fodder and water for drinking and irrigation purposes are sufficient. The canals are closed in some districts as irrigation is not needed. Stocks of food grains are sufficient. Prices show a slight upward tendency and range between normal and scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Lahore and Lyallpur 8½, Ambala, Ferozepore and Rawalpindi 9 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Harvesting of autumn crops is in progress. The outturn is average. Sowing of spring crops is proceeding. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder and water are sufficient. Malarial fever is still prevalent in Peshawar district and is reported bad in Bannu district where it is somewhat hindering the ploughing operations for spring sowing. The price of wheat in Peshawar was 9 ¼ and in Dera Ismail Khan 9 ½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Rain has fallen in almost all parts of the Province. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 9 to 13 seers, and maize from 16 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is below average. Cattle disease prevails in Kotli and Ramban tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was good. Autumn crops are being harvested and spring sowing is in progress. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are high.

Autumn crops are being harvested in Gwalior. Spring crops are being sown almost everywhere. Standing crops are unsatisfactory in Gwalior and are fair elsewhere. The probable outturn is eight annas in Gwalior and fair elsewhere. The condition of agricultural stock and pasturage is good. Prices are steady.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been clear, cool and rainless. Picking of cotton, reaping of autumn crops, preparation of land and sowing of spring crops continue. Bombay.—The rainfall during the week was heavy in Thar and Parkar and light in Konkan, parts of the Deccan, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Savantvadi and Kolhapur. Standing crops are generally good but have been damaged slightly by rain in three parts of Kathiawar and parts of Thar and Parkar and by insects in two talukas of Nawabshah and three of Thar and Parkar. Autumn harvesting continues. Spring sowing is progressing. Cotton picking continues in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Khandesh and Kathiawar. The fodder supply is generally adequate. RESOLUTION TO THE METHOD OF CALCULATING EXCHANGE COMPENSATION ALLOWANCE WITH REFERENCE TO THE MARKET RATE OF EXCHANGE AS PRESCRIBED IN RULE VII OF THE RULES PUBLISHED WITH RESOLUTION NO. 2422-EX., DATED THE 31ST MAY 1897.

RESOLUTION.

Simla, the 30th October 1917.

In 1893 the serious fall in the sterling value of the rupee made it necessary to give some compensation to European Officers employed in India who have ordinarily to remit money to England for the maintenance of their families, and sanction was given to the grant to such officers of an allowance, designated Exchange Compensation Allowance, sufficient to enable them to remit one-half of their salary to Europe at a privileged rate, subject to a maximum limit of £1,000 a year. The allowance took the form of a percentage on salary calculated on the difference between the sterling value of half salary at the market rate of exchange and its value at the privileged rate of 1s. 6d. per rupee, and was subject to the condition that it should in no case exceed in any quarter of the year the amount of rupees by which £250 converted at the privileged rate fell short of the equivalent of £250 converted at the market rate. The percentage on salary was, under rule VII of the rules published with the Finance and Commerce Department's resolution No. 2422-Ex., dated the 31st May 1897, calculated by the Comptroller General each quarter and notified by him about the 15th day of the final month in the preceding quarter; and, subject to the prescribed limit, it was until 1901 based on the amount by which the average demand rate of exchange during the quarter ending on the day named fell short of the privileged rate. In 1901 the exchange value of the rupee had become practically stable at 1s. 4d., and it was decided in the Finance and Commerce Department's resolution No. 911-Ex., dated the 18th February 1901, that, in order to avoid the quarterly calculations, instead of the average quarterly rate, the market rate of exchange should, until further orders, be taken at 1s. 4d. per rupee. This decision has been in force up to the present time, and the percentage on salary admissible under it as Exchange Compensation Allowance has accordingly been Rs. 6-4-0 since 1901.

2. As the result of special conditions due to the war the exchange value of the rupee has in recent months risen above 1s. 4d. and the rate fixed by the Secretary of State for the sale of Council Bills at the present time is 1s. 4½d. In view of this rise, the maintenance of Exchange Compensation Allowance (which is given solely for remittance purposes) at a rate calculated on an exchange value of 1s. 4d. cannot be justified, and the Governor General in Council, therefore, directs that the method of calculating the allowance prescribed in rule VII of the rules published with the Finance and Commerce Department's resolution No. 2422-Ex., dated the 31st May 1897, shall be restored. The Finance and Commerce Department's resolution No. 911-Ex., dated the 18th February 1901, is accordingly cancelled with effect from the 1st of December 1917, and the percentage to be given as Exchange Compensation Allowance on all salaries drawn on, and after that date will be calculated by the Controller of Currency each quarter with reference to the market rate of exchange, and notified by him about the 15th day of the final month in the preceding quarter.

ORDERED that a copy be forwarded to the several Departments of the Government of India; to all Local Governments and Administrations; to the Financial Adviser, Military Finance; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; to the Controller of Currency; to the Mint and Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay; to all Accountants General and Comptrollers; to the Examiner of Accounts, Military Works Services; to the Examiner of Press Accounts; to the Auditor, Custom House Accounts; to all Chief Examiners and Government Examiners of Railway Accounts; to the Private and Military Secretaries to the Viceroy; to the Chief Commissioner and to the Audit Officer, Delhi Province; and to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

By order,

H. F. HOWARD,

Secretary to the Government of India

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The returns of Indian imports and exports of merchandise (exclusive of treasure and Government stores) by sea during the first quarter of the present financial year show a trade balance (excluding treasure) in favour of India of R24 crores or 34·7 per cent above that of the corresponding period of the previous year. Last year the balance in favour of India in the first quarter was nearly R18 crores. The total exports in the quarter amounted to over R55 crores, of which R29 crores went to ports within the British Empire, and R26 crores to ports outside the Empire. The United Kingdom took 25·8 per cent of exports, followed by Japan 14·1 per cent, the United States 13·1 per cent, France 5·4 per cent, and Italy 3 per cent. Egypt took 12·6 per cent, but a considerable portion of this was transit trade, the exports being consigned to Port Said for orders. During the quarter there were imported into India goods of the value of over R31 crores. Of this amount nearly R20 crores were sent from ports within the Empire, R17 crores alone coming from British ports. The principal exporter to India, apart from the United Kingdom, was Japan which exported goods to the value of R3½ crores. The United States were the third largest exporter and Java the fourth.

The following figures showing India's trade with the British Empire and Allies and the Neutral countries during the first quarter of the three official years 1915-16, 1916-17, and 1917-18 are interesting :—

RESOLUTION.

Delhi, the 16th November 1917.

The following paper is published in accordance with Rule 29 of the Assam Labour Board Rules:—

Report on the working of the Assam Labour Board during the year ending the 30th June 1917.

I.—ADMINISTRATIVE.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. M. Kennedy, C.I.E., I.A., Chairman of the Board and Executive Board, proceeded to England on deputation in April 1917, and Mr. R. W. Davies, Madras, was appointed to officiate as Chairman during his absence. Lieutenant-Colonel Kennedy did not resume charge of his duties as Chairman till the 10th September 1917, after the close of the year under report.

2. At the instance of the Board, rule 24 of the rules for the working of the Board was amended by notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 6534-Emi., dated the 9th June 1917. This rule, which deals with the collection of the cess, has now been much simplified: Superintendents of Emigration have been relieved of the duty of furnishing monthly returns of labourers in respect of whom cess is leviable except in the case of those recruited by garden-sardars working independently of a local agent, and Supervisors have been made responsible for checking, during the course of their tours, the cess collected through the medium of local agents.

3. Two meetings of the Board were held during the year under review namely, on the 18th September 1916 and 20th March 1917. The following members were unavoidably prevented from attending:—

September Meeting.—Messrs. N. M. Ross, E. H. Hannay and the Hon'ble Sir E. H. Bray.

March Meeting.—The Hon'ble Mr. H. B. Fox, the Hon'ble Sir E. H. Bray and Mr. R. T. Fraser.

4. Two meetings of the Executive Committee attended by all the members were held, viz., on the 18th September 1916 and 20th March 1917.

5. Sanction was accorded to the strengthening of the Board's office establishment by the addition of one clerk on Rs. 60—4—80. A Provident Fund was established for the staff, and minor improvements were made in the prospects of the clerks.

During the year 2,646 letters were received and 4,668 letters issued.

6. The Chairman was on tour for 107 days, and the Acting Chairman for 51 days. In addition to interviewing Local Governments and District Officials, 20 local agencies and 4 transport agencies were inspected in the course of these tours.

In March the Chairman paid a visit to Delhi by desire of the Government of India.

7. With effect, respectively, from the 25th and 12th April 1917, the services of Messrs. Craven and McPherson, Supervisors, were placed at the disposal of the Government of Bihar and Orissa for employment with Labour Corps, leaving the Board with one Supervisor only (Mr. C. E. Middleton Stewart), whose headquarters have been transferred temporarily to Calcutta as being more central. A single supervisor is insufficient for the adequate performance of the inspection, preventive and miscellaneous work of the Board, which is spread over six provinces, but it was felt that the claims of war work were paramount. Suitable substitutes for the two Supervisors, whose services have been relinquished, are not as yet forthcoming, and this, also, is largely due to the effect of the war.

Name.	No. of days inspected.	NUMBER OF STATIONS VISITED.		NUMBER OF LOCAL AGENCIES INSPECTED.		NUMBER OF TRANSPORT AGENCIES INSPECTED.
		Once.	More than once.	Once.	More than once.	Once.	More than once.

In addition to the inspection of local agencies and transport agencies, the Supervisors were of much service in smoothing over local difficulties. They were, also, engaged, as before, in the detection and prevention of abuses and in several cases assisted at the prosecution of offenders in Court. They did much useful work, that of Mr. (now Captain) McPherson being especially meritorious.

II.—SUPERVISION OF LOCAL AGENTS.

8. There were altogether fifty-seven applications for the grant of licenses as local agents; in forty-eight cases the Board recommended that licenses should be granted, in five the applications were withdrawn, and in two cases the Board recommended that the applications should be rejected. The recommendations of the Board were accepted by Superintendents of Emigration in all cases except one, in which a license was issued to a person whom the Board were unable to recommend. The recipient has, however, recently resigned his license. Two applications were pending with the Board at the end of the year and have since been disposed of.

At the close of the year fifty persons held local agents' licenses, forty-four of them being employes of the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association, and six of individual employers or firms or combinations of firms. The special local agencies of Messrs. Barry and Company at Berhampore and of the Barduar Tea Estate at Ranchi ceased to work during the year.

9. Owing to the appointment of Supervisors the work of local agents was subjected to much closer supervision than in the previous year; it was, as a rule, satisfactory. The license of no local agent was cancelled, but one agent resigned his license in order to avoid cancellation. In one case, an application for the renewal of a license was not proceeded with, since the holder's conduct was not satisfactory in a matter outside his duties as local agent. As in the previous year, defects which came to light in the course of inspection were readily remedied on their being brought to the notice of those concerned.

10. Reference was made in paragraph 16 of last year's Report to the system of remunerating local agents. The Board are glad to be able to state that at the close of the year all local agents received fixed salaries only with the exception of one, who, in addition to a fixed salary, was granted a commission on each recruit. The local agent referred to has since ceased to work.

It is a matter for regret that, owing to financial stringency following upon the falling off in recruitment, the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association have been compelled temporarily to reduce the salaries of their staff, and to effect other economies. The Association have also been obliged to ask their constituents to come to their assistance with the object of enabling them to tide over a period of financial difficulty. This assistance, the Board understand, has been largely afforded. Over 90 per cent. of the recruitment for Assam is carried on under the auspices of the Association, and the Board would regard it as a great misfortune should the members decide to wind it up. A proposal is on foot to re-organise the Association by broadening the basis of membership in order that the tea industry, as a whole, may be more wholly represented on the Committee. Any measure which could strengthen the Association would be welcomed by all persons interested in clean recruitment. A central recruiting Association of some description is a necessity, since if individual estates or companies or combinations thereof were to appoint their own local agents, the result would be chaos, and the competition among garden-sardars of the different agencies to obtain recruits could not but give rise to abuses.

In paragraph 17 of the Report of the previous year allusion was made to the fact that the Government of India had been addressed with the object of Local Agents contrary to the provisions of the Board. The Government, after considering the replies of Local Governments, decided to leave it to the latter to issue, if they so desired, executive instructions that no local agents' license should be granted without the favourable recommendation of the Board, this decision being, however, subject to the reservation that before the procedure is finally adopted it should be reconsidered by the Local Governments concerned after a year and a report made to the Government of India. The Governments of Bengal, Madras, the United Provinces and the Central Provinces have acceded to the request of the Board. In the province of Bihar and Orissa should a Superintendent of Emigration wish to issue a license to a person whom the Board are unable to recommend, he will refer the case to the Local Government for final orders.

III.—RECRUITMENT.

12. As was anticipated, the results for the year fell far short of those for the year 1915-16. From the 1st July 1916 to the 30th June 1917 cess was paid on General results of the year.

33,759 adult labourers, who were recruited by 28,317 garden-sardars, as compared with 56,588 adult labourers recruited by 37,849 garden-sardars between the 21st August 1915 and the 30th June 1916. (These figures do not agree with those given in paragraph 20 relating to realisations on account of cess, since cess accruing in June is not received by the Board till July and is, accordingly, accounted for in the year succeeding that under report.) In all areas the results compare unfavourably with those of the previous year; they were best in the districts of Ranchi and Singhbhum, which (including the neighbouring Feudatory States) supplied about one-half the total recruits. It will be observed that the average number of recruits per garden-sardar diminished very considerably. The main reason for the falling off in numbers is the fact that agricultural conditions were generally good. The results, also, of the previous season having been unusually favourable, certain estates had a sufficiency of labour and consequently sent down fewer garden-sardars. In the latter half of the year recruitment for War Labour Corps was partly responsible for the diminution in the number of recruits, while the general financial stringency obtaining throughout the tea industry, consequent upon the difficulty of disposing of tea owing to shortage of freight, tended towards the restriction of recruiting operations.

Prospects for the year 1917-18 are still less favourable. Larger numbers of persons are being recruited for service for the combatant and non-combatant branches of the Army, agricultural conditions are generally good and the financial position of the tea industry is still unsettled. The numbers of absconding garden-sardars have increased considerably. This has rightly or wrongly led to the impression that a good many of them have been recruited for Labour Corps, and concerns are, therefore, reluctant to risk further loss of labourers who have been imported at great expense. In this connection it may be mentioned that the recruiting authorities for war purposes in the provinces from which Assam chiefly draws its labour, have agreed not to accept absconding garden-sardars as recruits and to grant facilities for their identification. In view of the above-mentioned difficulties most of the larger Calcutta Agency Houses at one time issued instructions prohibiting recruitment altogether or drastically restricting it. It is hoped, however, that the difficulties of the financial situation may soon be surmounted and Agency Houses are issuing instructions that recruitment should be resumed, at any rate to a moderate extent. The tea industry have no desire to compete in any way with recruitment for war purposes, but it is necessary, with a view to the future, to maintain connection with the recruiting districts. Moreover, to cut off the coolies in Assam from communication with their old homes would be liable to arouse discontent on the tea estates.

The Tea Districts Labour Supply Association have offered to assist, in any way possible, in the recruitment of War Labour Corps, and the Board have also afforded such help in this matter as has been asked of them.

13. Difficulties have arisen in working the areas in the Madras

Measures affecting recruitment.

Tracts lately thrown open to recruitment, the chief being that of determining coolies who wish to be sent down as garden-sardars originally came from in the open or closed areas. It is not easy for the tea-planters in Assam to distinguish between these areas, the boundaries being somewhat indefinite. It is understood that villages are not permanently located in the same place, and in some cases there are several hamlets bearing the same name, some within and some beyond the area thrown open. An additional complication arises owing to the fact that most of the coolies from these areas were obtained through contractors, before the areas were thrown open, with the result that their names and addresses are often incorrect. By arrangement with the Agent to the Governor in Ganjam, sardars for the open area are sent down and their names and addresses are tested locally, those belonging to the area still closed being returned in Assam. Objection was taken on the part of the Agency Tracts authorities to the emigration of single males without their families, who were liable to fall into a state of destitution. The authorities concerned were informed that in such cases, if necessary, an absolute guarantee would be given to return a male recruit after six months' residence in Assam in order to enable him to bring up his family or to remain at home should he not be satisfied with the work and prospects in Assam. The Acting Chairman, who had personal knowledge of local conditions, addressed the Agents to the Governor in the Vizagapatam and Godavari Tracts, explaining the difficulties of the existing system and suggesting further facilities, and a communication on similar lines will shortly be made to the Agent to the Governor in the Ganjam Agency Tract.

Closely connected with the above subject is the scheme sanctioned by the Government of Madras under which coolies in Assam recruited from the areas still remaining closed should be permitted to assist their immediate relatives to emigrate. Lists of such relatives were to be prepared in Assam, and verified locally by tehsildars, after which permission would be accorded to the coolies in Assam to come down and expatriate the persons named. Voluminous lists have been prepared, but here again great difficulty has arisen in identifying the names and addresses given, and the lists are still in process of verification.

The scheme for the regularisation of recruitment in the Feudatory States of Bihar and Orissa is still under consideration, but is approaching conclusion, and it is hoped that final orders will soon be issued.

14. This important subject was considered at length by a Sub-Committee appointed by the Indian Tea Association, of which the Chairman was a member.

Cost of sardari recruitment.

The Indian Tea Association referred the Report of the Sub-Committee for the opinion of the Board, who generally approved of the recommendations. The matter is still under the consideration of the Association.

In this connection, it may be mentioned, that the attention of the Board was drawn to the practice followed by a few concerns of consigning garden-sardars to local agents with instructions that no advances are to be paid but that the garden-sardars are to be rewarded by per capita bonuses in respect of the recruits which they may bring in. Such garden-sardars generally bring down considerable sums of money with them. The Board consider that this method of recruitment is objectionable, that garden-sardars should be financed only by the local agents and that bonuses, if any, should not be paid till the return of the garden-sardars to the tea estates.

IV.—ILLEGAL RECRUITMENT.

15. Though the operations of arkatties have been circumscribed owing to the abolition of the system of recruitment by contractors, a number of them were still active, especially during the earlier portion of the year under review. By a ruse a Supervisor, assisted by the police, caught a gang of seven persons, two of whom held Colonial recruiting licenses, red-handed at Allahabad, all of them being convicted. By a similar ruse at Puri another Supervisor secured the conviction of a well-known arkatti. In Sylhet, thanks to the information given by the manager of a tea estate, an arkatti, who was hawking coolies for sale, was run to earth by one of the Board's Supervisors, convicted and sentenced to two months' imprisonment. In several instances arkatties supplied recruits to garden-sardars working independently of a local agent, some of whom were large at the beginning of the year under report. An important case of description was detected at Sewan in Chapra which ended in the conviction of a gang of four persons headed by a Marwari, who obtained coolies for the United Provinces for supply to the dummy garden-sardars. The manager of the tea estate would also have been prosecuted, but for the fact that he disappeared on leave. A similar case occurred at Arrah, resulting in the conviction of the offender. A notorious arkatti came down to the Ghazipur Agency of the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association with a sardar's certificate and collected a batch of coolies from the persons with whom he was in touch. His prosecution unfortunately failed owing to a technical error. In five cases offers were made to supply coolies to local agents, in two of which prosecutions were instituted and convictions obtained, but in one of these the accused persons were acquitted on appeal. In a third case the license of a Colonial contractor at Bahraich was cancelled. These are the more important cases in which the Board were concerned. There is reason to believe that the policy of harassing illegal recruiters is bearing fruit, as the number of offences reported diminished during the latter part of the year. So far as the Board are aware, there are now no garden-sardars working independently of a local agent; thus an easy channel for the commission of abuses has been blocked. The Central Provinces Administration has lately prohibited recruitment by garden-sardars not working under a local agent, and the Board will consider whether other Local Governments should not be asked to pass similar orders. The fact that the Government of the United Provinces has, as recommended in paragraph 26 of last year's Report, amended the notification published under section 91, Act VI of 1901, the certificates of all garden-sardars being now required to be countersigned in the labour districts, has facilitated control over those working mala fide. It may be added that in all cases in which there is reason to believe that the manager of a tea estate is concerned in the malpractices of his subordinates, he is called upon for an explanation and dealt with through the Indian Tea Association or his employer, and in an extreme case his prosecution is recommended.

16. For many years past it has been the practice on certain estates to grant leave chits instead of sardari certificates to coolies proceeding at their own expense to visit their old homes in the recruiting districts, it not being the intention of such persons to engage in recruiting. In practice, however, some of their relatives or friends not infrequently wish to accompany them back to Assam. Difficulties then arise. If the coolie brings these people to a local agent, the latter cannot send them forward unless there happens to be a certificated garden-sardar in the neighbourhood who can nominally recruit them. Indeed, the coolie who brought them in has probably already committed the technical offence of engaging or attempting to engage them. Or, perhaps, the coolie will take these persons back with him to Assam, without producing them before the local agent of the estate, and instances of this have occurred during

No. 2854 of 1916. In pursuance of leave granted on 20th November 1917, the above numbered specification has been amended in the manner set forth in the Gazette of India, dated the 18th August 1917.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.
